WINNIE NONCOMMITTAL ON PEACE

Sees Possibility Exceptional News During This Week

No Indication Count Bernadotte Of Sweden Has New Communication From Himmler —Oldenburg, North German Town Covering Approaches To Wilhelmshaven, Entered — Western Third Of German Alpine Belt Collapsing — Stalin Predicts Imminent End Of Hitler's Germany

By CANADIAN PRESS

LONDON—The House of Commons met this morning in an atmosphere rife with talk of impending peace. However, Prime Minister Churchill was non-committal of the prospects of an early capitulation by Germany. He said: "I have no special statement to make about the war position in Europe, except that it is definitely more satisfactory than it was at this time five years ago."

ANNOUNCE ARRANGEMENTS TONIGHT

He continued: "With regard to the condition and requisition which would occur if an announcement of decisive consequence justifying celebration were to be made this week, or at any time in the future, and V-E Day was announced, a number of arrangements have been prepared and will be issued tonight in a Home Office circular." However, the Prime Minister indicated that it was possible that what he called "information of exceptional importance" might reach the government during this week. That was absolutely all Mr. Churchill had to say about current rumors that another offer of surrender from Germany is not far off.

BASIS OF RUMORS

These rumors are based on reports that Count Folke Bernadotte conferred today with Erike Boltman, Under-Secretary of State in the Swedish Foreign Office in Stockholm, following a flight from Copenhagen, Denmark. However, the Swedish nobleman refused to say whether he had brought with him a new communication from Himmler.

APPEARED CONFIDENT

So far there are no signs that Count Bernadotte has met Allied representatives in Stockholm, but if he does he will probably make the arrangements through the Swedish Foreign Office. According to an Associated Press despatch from Stockholm the count appeared confident and was smiling broadly when he entered the Swedish capital today.

ALPINE BELT COLLAPSING

PARIS—The western third of Germany's Alpine defence belt is collapsing under the hammer blows of two American armies. Front line bulletins disclose that the American 7th has turned its power southward from captured Munich towards Innsbruck and the Brenner Pass. At the same time, 3rd Army tank divisions are racing south and east from the Isar River toward Berchtesgaden and the Austrian town of Linz. At last word, the 3rd Army was 64 miles from Berchtesgaden and had crossed the Austrian border in force 27 miles northeast of Linz. German accounts say that Linz is also threatened by the Russians from west of Vienna. A meeting of both armies would hem in Czechoslovakia and trap all the Germans in Bohemia and Moravia. General Eisenhower has hailed the 7th army's capture of Munich in a special order of the day. The supreme Commander referred to the big German city as the cradle of the Nazi beast; possibly a reference to the nearby torture prison camps of Dachau, freed just before Munich fell. In the north, British troops and an American airborne division have increased the threat to Hamburg, Lubeck and the whole Danish peninsula.

V-E DAY CELEBRATION PLANS

SERVICE REWARDED BY CERTIFICATE FROM MONTGOM'RY

Sgt. Lloyd Flavelle Had Miraculous D-I Day Escape

Refusing a recommendation for the Military Medal following exploits on D-Day and the following day for which he was rewarded by being presented with his sergeant's stripes, Sgt. Lloyd D. Flavelle has recently been presented with a certificate signed by Field Marshal B. L. Montgomery. The certificate, which Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Flavelle, 86 Cromwell Avenue, received from their son yesterday is dated March 2 and reads as follows:

"It has been brought to my notice that you have performed outstanding good service, and shown great devotion to duty, during the campaign in North West Europe.

"I award you this certificate as a token of my appreciation and I have given instructions that this shall be noted in your Record of Service."

In a letter written to his father on February 14, Sgt. Flavelle explained that on D-Day he was a gunner in one of the first tanks to land in France. All went well on D-Day, he said but on D-Plus one his tank had been out on reconnaissance looking for Tiger Tanks, for about an hour when a Jerry 88 mm. gun fired at the tank as it reached a corner. All the other members of the crew were killed but while the shell went between his legs and out the other end of the tank he escaped with his life and eyelashes being burned a little. Remaining in the burning tank until he received any papers which might be of use to the enemy, Sgt. Flavelle made his way across the road on all fours, in between the fire of Allied and the enemy tanks.

On the other side of the road he found three Germans in a slit trench and sneaking up behind them he forced them out of the trench while he crawled into it and remained there for about an hour and a half as the bullets flew overhead. Taking the three Germans with him he managed to crawl along the ground for some distance and eventually reach a camp some 15 miles back where he was relieved of his prisoners and was able to return to the regiment on foot.

SAW SERVICE IN FOUR CAMPAIGNS

L/Cpl. "Wally" Brown Arrived Home On Sunday Morning

Among recent Army personnel to arrive in Canada after service overseas was L/Cpl. "Wally" H. Brown, son of Mrs. Olive Brown, and the late Mr. Brown, 161 Park Road South.

L/Cpl. Brown sent a telegram to his mother which he arrived in Halifax last week stating that he would return to Oshawa the middle of this week, but he pleasantly surprised her when he returned on Sunday morning. A neighbor telephoned Mrs. Brown on Sunday morning and told her that a soldier had been standing on her front porch for half an hour and when going to the door Mrs. Brown found it was her son. L/Cpl. Brown is home on rotation leave after spending the past five years and four months overseas. While overseas he has seen service in Italy, Sicily and Belgium, he also took part in the raid on Spitzbergen.

He enlisted as a wireless operator in the Signal Corps at Kingston on September 2, 1939, and received his training at Kingston and Ottawa before being posted overseas in December of the same year.

Born in England on October 25, 1918, he came to Canada in 1919 but has never lived in Oshawa. His mother came here two years ago while he was serving overseas. At the time of his enlistment he was attending school in Kingston.

He has two brothers serving overseas, L Cpl Douglas G. is a sergeant with the 2nd Division serving in Germany, and Pte. Stewart with the infantry in England, and a third brother Ronald is at home attending school.

Oshawa Girl Instantly Killed In Auto Crash North of Enniskillen

Mary Zakarow Thrown From Auto Driven By Richard Bradley Jr. When It Fails to Turn Corner—Sustained Broken Neck and Shoulder

When the car in which she was a passenger turned off the road at the corner of the Scugog Road and the 9th Concession of Darlington Township, about a mile north of Enniskillen at 2 a.m. this morning, Mary Zakarow 19 680 Bilton Road South, was killed instantaneously when she was thrown from the car 27 feet from where the car finally stopped. She sustained a broken neck and shoulder.

The car, which proceeded about 133 feet into a field, was driven by Richard Bradley, Jr., 19, 17 John Street, the only other passenger. Bradley sustained cuts and bruises as well as a back injury which may be a fracture and is now in Bowmanville Hospital under the care of Dr. C. J. Austin of Enniskillen.

The accident occurred when the car, a 1940 coach, failed to make the turn at the corner when it was proceeding south on the Scugog road where it turns west on the 9th Concession. The car careened off the road, across the shoulder, through the ditch, hit the guy-cable of a telephone pole tearing the top half of the pole down leaving the Bilton hall, skidding went through a fence and proceeded 133 feet into a field turning over several times on its way. Damage to the car was extensive with flattened roof and fenders but none of the lines were flat. Bradley crawled to the nearest farm house to get help and collapsed on the doorstep.

No Inquest Planned

Dr. C. J. Austin was summoned and the two young people were transported immediately by ambulance to the Bowmanville Hospital. Coroner Dr. J. A. McArthur, Blackstock, stated that the cause of death was the fracture of the neck and that death had been instantaneous when the young girl apparently landed upon her neck and shoulder when thrown from the vehicle. Crown Attorney H. R. Deyman of Oshawa states that no inquest will be held. The investigation of the accident is being conducted by Ontario Provincial Police Constable J. R. Pollard, Bowmanville.

Warning Sign Down

The Times-Gazette is informed that a large checkerboard danger sign, which previously had indicated the presence of this dangerous corner has been down and lying in the ditch for some time previous to the accident and at the time of the accident was still in the ditch, thus not giving the usual warning.

Find Balloon Here Released in Pa.

The mystery surrounding the release of a balloon found by Alfred Smith on the farm of William Hoag, Rossland Road West, about a week ago has been solved by a letter received yesterday from the man whose business card was found attached to the balloon. Written on the back of the card bearing this was the name of Arthur N. Tsanow, Erie, Pa., was a request for the finder to communicate with Mr. Tsanow.

Complying with this request, Mr. Hoag yesterday received a letter from the Erie man in which the latter explained that the balloon was one which had been used daily by technicians at the Erie Pa., airport to determine ceiling height and visibility. A neighbour of Mr. Tsanow, who was employed at the airport, brought the balloon home and on New Year's Day they released it out of curiosity to determine how quickly it would rise and how far it would go before disappearing from sight. He added that he had attached his card in the hope that whoever found the balloon would report its discovery to him.

WILL DESTROY FASCISM

MOSCOW—This is May Day and it marks the most triumphant one in the history of the Soviet Union. Russian armies have marched back from the gates of Moscow and Leningrad. Veterans of Stalingrad and of the Caucasus have turned the tide of battle in the east and now are fighting alongside their brothers within the virtually-conquered capital of their enemy. Marshal Stalin today hailed the victories of those Russian armies and he proclaimed the imminent end of Hitler's Germany and vowed the destruction of Fascism by the United Nations.

SEND PLANES TO PACIFIC

LONDON—A spokesman for the Royal Air Force says that Britain is preparing to send a large number of her bombers to the Pacific to join the Americans in the air offensive against Japan. The spokesman declared that the R.A.F. is going to co-operate to the fullest possible extent in future Pacific operations. There is no indication of what if anything, has been planned for the Canadian bomber group of the R.A.F. Bomber Command.

BORNEO LANDING UNCONFIRMED

LONDON—There is no immediate confirmation of an enemy broadcast telling of an Allied landing on Borneo in the Malay Archipelago. According to the Tokyo radio Allied seaborne units hit the beaches near Tarakan, a rich oil port off the northeastern coast of Borneo. The Japanese say assault waves struck in force under cover of a heavy naval bombardment. After an earlier landing attempt had failed, Tokyo claims the Japanese garrison is now engaging the landing parties along Tarakan's beaches.

BRITISH COMMONS BACKS PRINCIPLE OF BABY BONUSES

Government $236,500,000 Family Allowances Bill Is Well Received

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, April 30.—(CP)—The House of Commons has approved in principle the government's $237,000,000-a-year family allowances bill, but one major point of difference remains unsolved: whether the money should be paid to the father or the mother.

On second reading almost without exception speakers in the debate urged that the allowances be payable to the mother, instead of the father as the bill provides. Sir William Jowitt, minister of national insurance who was piloting the measure through the house, promised a free vote on this issue in committee.

An estimated 2,500,000 families will receive benefits from the exchequer, when the plan goes into effect on a date to be set by the minister after the war ends.

A sum of five shillings ($1.12) a week will be paid for every child except the first in every family, as long as the child is below school-leaving age. The estimated $57,000,000 ($256,500,000) annual expenditure was based on the expectation 4,500,000 children will qualify.

An additional £2,000,000 ($9,000,000) a year will be required when the school-leaving age is raised to 16 from 15, as planned. Administration will cost £2,000,000.

The family allowances bill provides for a benefit three shillings below that recommended in the social security report submitted to the government in 1943. The government, however, contends its total benefits to children will be considerably above the Beveridge figure since a program of free meals and milk in the schools will cost the exchequer another £60,000,000 ($270,000,000) when fully developed.

The £57,000,000 is the amount which will be paid out by the exchequer in benefits. While there has been no final statements yet it is anticipated the allowance payments will be subject to income tax as in the Canadian scheme, but the effect of taxation on net expenditures under the plan has not been estimated.

Reciprocal Arrangements

The intention is to make reciprocal arrangements with Canada, Eire, New Zealand and Eire which already have family allowance plans whereby their nationals living here and British subjects living in those countries will get their weekly payments. Foreigners who have lived in the United Kingdom for a number of years will also benefit.

The government's family allowance plan generally has been well-received. There have been criticisms—particularly from the Labor Party—that the benefits should be higher and that the first child should be included, but the basic idea has been widely approved.

Sir David Fyfe, solicitor-general, said one reason why the first child was not covered was that such action would bring the total cost of cash benefits to £130,000,000 ($585,000,000) instead of the proposed £57,000,000.

Sir William Jowitt, speaking at a time when Britain's falling birth-rate was receiving prominence in the press and on the public platform, said family allowances were not intended as an answer to the complex problem of population, being studied by a Royal Commission.

Their object was not to take over the responsibility of parents but to help them discharge that responsibility as they would desire. The benefits would ease the financial burden which at present oppressed parents with large families and so promote the health and well-being of the nation's youth.

Would Permit Imperial Army First War Vets Qualify Allowances

Oshawa Legion Branch Resolution Asking Government Change Policy Regarding Air Force Reserve Approved By District Meeting

Cobourg, May 1.—At a large gathering of Legion members in Cobourg on Sunday, Fire Chief George Gimblett of Peterboro was returned for another term as commander of District "E". He was elected in a straight two-man contest with Fire Chief W. R. Elliott of Oshawa.

Rev. Capt. J. H. Hodgson of Peterboro was guest speaker, delivering a spirited address in which he urged Legion members to insist upon proper rehabilitation for the boys returning from overseas.

A lengthy list of resolutions was presented by Past-Zone Commander J. D. Burnet of Cobourg, chairman of the resolutions committee. A resolution originating in Oshawa was passed asking that Imperial Army veterans of World War I be enabled to qualify for allowances as if they had been members of the Canadian Army. Another Oshawa resolution carried asking the government to change its policy with regard to keeping men on the Air Force reserve without pay. It was felt that this made it difficult for a man to obtain a job. Therefore the request was put forth that the men be kept on the payroll or be given a discharge. A young airman told the assembly that if not kept on the airforce reserve, these trained flying men would immediately be called in the army so would not be able to take jobs at any rate.

A Peterboro resolution was approved asking the government to set aside 50% of Wartime Houses for members of the families of active service personnel. Resolutions approved regarding war services gratuities included one that air force personnel which had served in Canada only, in connection with the air training plan, as voluntary enlistments, receive benefits on the same basis as comrades sent overseas, that a minimum of $500 in gratuities be given dependents of men killed.

Following registration Sunday morning, the visitors were welcomed by Mayor R. D. Dodge, James Rollings, Cobourg Legion president, extended a welcome to the visitors, who came from Cobourg, Port Hope, Oshawa, Lakefield, Brighton, Campbellford, Hastings, Trenton, Whitby, Peterboro, Beaverton, Sunderland, Bowmanville, Woodville, Cannington, Colborne, Marmora, Fenelon Falls, Norwood, Ajax, 6 R.D., Trenton.

Following the morning session, the Legion paraded to Victoria Park, Cobourg, for the laying of a wreath by Tom McGladery. Music for marching was provided by Cobourg Kittie Band and the Peterboro Rangers bugle band.

TWO ODD FELLOW LODGES AT CHURCH

Rev. A. D. Cornett Based Address Sunday Afternoon On Brotherhood

Celebrating the one hundred and twenty-sixth anniversary of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows on the North American Continent, Phoenix Lodge No. 22 and Corinthian Lodge No. 61 held their annual church parade and attended a special church service held in Simcoe Street United Church on Sunday afternoon.

The members of both lodges assembled at the Odd Fellows Hall on King Street West and marched to the church accompanied by the R.C.S.C. "Sir Francis Drakes" bugle band. The parade was headed by Canton Oshawa No. 11 and was marshalled by Brother Clough of Phoenix Lodge No. 22 of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Visitors were present from many district lodges.

Rev. A. D. Cornett preached the sermon and took his text from St. Luke, chapter 10, verse 25, using as his theme, "Brotherhood". He stated that there is a great spirit of friendship and brotherhood in the I.O.O.F. To illustrate his theme Rev. Cornett told the story of "The Good Samaritan." A certain man, when travelling from Jerusalem to Jerico became a victim of thieves who wounded him and left him by the roadside to die. A priest came by the road and seeing the man crossed to the other side and went on, likewise came a Levite who also passed by on the other side of the road. The third man to pass was a Samaritan who, on seeing the wounded man, dressed his wounds by pouring oil and wine. He then placed the wounded man on his own donkey and took him to an inn where he cared for him until the next day when he continued to travel. When leaving the inn the Samaritan paid the innkeeper and asked him to care for the injured man and he would pay the keeper when returning from his journey. Rev. Cornett stated that the spirit of friendship and brotherhood should not be limited to members of the Order but should be extended to everyone.

The choir was in attendance and sang "My Face Looks Up to Thee" with Miss Leah Garrow taking the solo part. The choir and congregation sang "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds", "Thou Hidden Love of God" and "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee".

Nominal Sentence In Driving Case

Appearing before Magistrate F. S. Ebbs in police court yesterday for sentence on a charge of dangerous driving, Samuel W. Richardson of Liverpool was fined $25 and costs or the alternative of one month in jail. While he imposed a nominal sentence, His Worship added, however that the accused driver's permit would be suspended for a period of one year.

The charge arose from an accident which took place on No. 2 Highway near Pickering on December 7, 1944, involving two cars and a truck. Asking for a nominal fine, A. W. S. Greer, counsel for the defence, pointed out that the accused's wife had been severely injured in the accident and while the damage to the other car had been taken care of the issue as to the damage to the truck was under investigation in two county court actions.

Family Allowance Plan Provisions Explained

Authorities Point Out It Is Impossible to Lose Money By Making Application — Future Decreased Income May Be Circumvented by Registration

Do you remember the old song in which the perplexed young lady rang "Shall I have it bobbed or shingled?" Practising the old song there are many men and women in Oshawa who are walking around today saying "Shall I mail it or forget about the whole thing?" It's of Family Allowance we are talking.

When the plan was first announced, it seemed to say simply that for any child under six years of age a parent would receive $5 monthly; six to ten, $6; ten to thirteen, $7 and thirteen to sixteen, $8. Then come the "nigger in the woodpile" and the announcement was made that one couldn't have the cake and eat it too . . . if you received the Baby Bonus you couldn't have the income tax deductions. Then the questions started: "If I receive the family allowance for my three children, will I lose the entire $55 income tax deduction for each child or will the tax deduction be reduced only to the extent of the family allowance?"

Confusion Rife

Mr. Ilsley made a statement on the Family Allowance on April 19 but many people did not hear nor read the announcement and a state of confusion is still uppermost in most people's minds. Since it is estimated, not accurately but as close as is possible, that between 5,500 and 6,000 children from birth to sixteen years of age in Oshawa will benefit this is a question of importance to many people.

Mr. Ilsley said, "When the Family Allowances Act was passed, Parliament approved the principle that there should be no duplication of benefits by way of Family Allowances and Income Tax credits for the same child. An amendment to the Income War Tax Act will be made to deal with this duplication."

"Since the Family Allowance Act was designed primarily to make equitable, as compared with other children, the opportunities of children of parents receiving low incomes, this is naturally a step which will be expected to receive maximum benefits from Family Allowances."

The amount of duplication to be removed is equal to the following percentage of the actual Family Allowances received in the year 1945 (all arrangements described are temporary and will apply only in respect to 1945):

Annual Taxable Income	Removed
Not over $1200	0%
Over $1200 but not over $1400	10%
Over $1400 but not over $1600	20%
Over $1600 but not over $1800	30%
Over $1800 but not over $2000	40%
Over $2000 but not over $2200	50%
Over $2200 but not over $2400	60%
Over $2400 but not over $2600	70%
Over $2600 but not over $2800	80%
Over $2800 but not over $3000	90%
Over $3000	100%

This table applies to married persons and others having the status of married person for income tax purposes. It means that a person who makes less than $1400 but more than $1200 will receive a monthly Family Allowance of $10 would lose $12 from the income tax deduction of $55 times the number of children in the family. If it is two children then the income tax deduction would be $22 instead of the usual $110.

Another question which is asked is, "Can application for Family Allowance be made at any time in the future or must eligible persons apply immediately?"

F. C. Jackson, Regional Director of Family Allowances, Toronto, answered this question by saying "Children may be registered for Family Allowances after July, 1945, if so desired. In which case all payments of Family Allowances would be forfeited prior to date of application and up to the calendar month following the date upon which application is received at the Family Allowances Regional Of-

PHONE SHORTAGE WILL CONTINUE AFTER WAR END

Telephone Research and Materials Largely Engaged In War Effort

The shortage of telephone equipment will continue after the end of the war because it will take time to recovert telephone manufacturing plants to large-scale peacetime production, Robert H. Spencer of Toronto, public information representative of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, told members of the Oshawa Rotary Club at their luncheon meeting yesterday. Speaking on "Giving Wings to Words" Mr. Spencer said that even after new equipment starts rolling off the assembly lines, time will be need to install it and to build the lines to serve areas of post-war growth.

"You may get washing machines and vacuum cleaners long before you will get telephones," he declared. "All that you have to do to install a washing machine is to carry it around to the house and plug it in. A telephone, on the contrary, has to be connected to an exchange. The exchange has to have the facilities to handle the extra calls, and the long distance lines to meet the extra demand for out-of-town connections."

2,200 Phones Per Ship

Some of our battleships require 2,200 telephones enough to serve a city of 10,000 people, the speaker stated, in discussing the quantity and complexity of the signals equipment required by the armed forces of the United Nations. For an invading force of 250,000 men, 50,000 tons of communications equipment are required for the initial landing, and an additional 1,000 tons to maintain the landing force for 30 days.

"In fact," Mr. Spencer said, "war has put the telephone to a hundred new uses. It has been called upon to meet conditions of unheard-of urgency, and it has measured up to all the demands made upon it."

Discussing the electrical gun director developed by Bell Telephone engineers, he said that at the height of the robot bomb blitz, only 24 per cent of the aerial target does, which travel between 350 and 400 miles per hour, get past gun batteries equipped with electrical directors.

No effort is being spared oten-

Proprietor of the Hillcrest Dairy, Whitby, and former resident of Oshawa, who won the automobile in the big draw at the Oshawa Kiwanis Club Carnival at the arena on Saturday night.

R. M. Tyndall, Proprietor of Hillcrest Dairy, Whitby, Aroused From Slumbers To Hear Glad News — Carnival Enjoys Record Patronage

"The biggest night in the history of Kiwanis Karnivale", that was the general opinion expressed by the members of the Oshawa Kiwanis Club as they closed up their booths and moved to the lunch counter for a sandwich and cup of coffee, shortly after midnight, when the last of the huge crowd of nearly three thousand people which stayed right until the last, to hear the winner of the car announced, had wended their way from the Oshawa Arena. It was estimated that at least 10,000 people attended the carnival on Saturday night.

From shortly after seven o'clock, the citizens of the city and neighbouring districts started to file into the Karnival and from then until the "all-clear" was sounded five minutes before midnight, every single booth on the floor enjoyed a terrific rush of business.

S.R.O. Sign Hung Up

The "Sold Right Out" sign was hung up before eleven o'clock in two or three of the most popular booths, indicating the sustained pressure of sales.

Groceries and fruit baskets were two of the booths which disposed of all their merchandise before eleven o'clock. The bacons and hams went with equal rapidity, as did the electrical prizes, while those patrons who were seeking "chicken dinners" for Sunday had the shelves of this booth cleaned up long before midnight also.

One of the best runs on the floor was enjoyed by the blanket booth. Holding a roll every four minutes and sometimes with even less of a delay, this booth sold its last blanket just as the carnival chairman

"OPEN SESSIONS" LAST WEEK WERE MOST SUCCESSFUL

Principal and Teachers Are Gratified By Interest Shown

Gratification with the manner in which parents of Whitby children attending public school in the town, turned out last week at the "Open Sessions" of the three schools, was expressed yesterday by R. A. Sennett, supervising principal of the public schools in Whitby.

"Both the members of the teaching staffs at the various schools and myself were very pleased with the manner in which the parents of the children showed their interest in the work that the teachers are carrying out."

He said that the attendance this year was not as large as it has been in other years, but he attributed this to the inclement weather that prevailed on practically every day that the "Open Session" was held at each of the three schools.

Mr. Sennett stated that all persons who attended the sessions appeared to be very well satisfied with the manner in which the curriculum in the various schools was being carried out. He pointed out further that it also gave both teachers and parents the opportunity of becoming acquainted with one another.

The "Open Sessions" were held at Brock St. School on Tuesday afternoon, at King St. School on Wednesday and Dundas St. School on Friday afternoon.

The teaching staffs at the various schools are as follows:

King St. School—R. A. Sennett, principal. Miss Kathleen McMullen, Miss G. Corbett, Mrs. Helen Davies, Mrs. Dorothy Gregor, Miss Euna Foster, Miss Mildred Corbett.

HAPPINESS IS A BY-PRODUCT OF GOOD LIVING

Good Life Must Come First, Says Rev. C. G. Park

"Happiness", said Rev. C. G. Park in Whitby United Church last Sunday evening, "is a by-product of the good life. It cannot be found by seeking. Let a man make it his business to be happy—let him try deliberately to extract happiness from any one—and he is almost sure to fail. It is when we forget ourselves and marshall our powers in harmonious devotion to high goals, to the service of humanity and of the Eternal Goodness, that happiness steals out and joins on the road."

Mr. Park's theme was "Some Essentials of Happiness." Likening the structure of the happy life to the grace and unity of a cathedral, the speaker declared that its foundation is composed of health and economic security, its walls are hills of the granite of work and the mortar of keen interests, its windows are constructed of the stained glass of friendship, and it is roofed by faith in the overshadowing grace of God.

In conclusion the speaker asserted that even these materials could not assure happiness except the temple of life were erected according to the right architectural design, which has been revealed in the life and teaching of Him who said, "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life". There is no other blue-print which it is safe to follow except that furnished by Jesus Christ. You will find it written large across the pages of the New Testament. In particular you find it sketched with precision in the Sermon on the Mount. The Greek word which prefaces each beatitude and which has been translated "Blessed" can also be translated "Happy". As you read these three injunctions to purity, and goodness and self - forgetfulness, you see that for Jesus, too, happiness is a by-product, a by-product of the life lived in devotion to a sublime and lofty purpose. "Seek happiness first and be baffled", concluded the speaker, "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and all these things shall be added unto you."

APRIL MEETING WOMEN'S INSTIT. THIS FRIDAY EVE.

Horticulture is Subject To Be Discussed By Women's Group

(G. M. White, Corr.)

Brooklin, April 30.—The April meeting of the Women's Institute is to be held next Friday, May 4, in the Township Hall at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Wm. Agar and Mrs. Fred Holliday are in charge and the programme is to be on the theme of Horticulture. The Roll Call is a helpful hint for the gardener and each member of the Society is asked to bring a perennial for the border at the Hall. The reports of standing committees will be received and officers elected for the new year. All women of the community are cordially invited to attend.

The Junior Institute meets on Thursday night, May 3, in the Township Hall. They are having guests at a social meeting when Uxbridge Juniors will be with them. Mrs. Kenneth Holliday is in charge of the programme with Matthew Agar giving an address on "Horticulture." Matthew Agar will demonstrate four ways of serving honey and the roll call asks for a recipe using honey. The girls are anxious that every member be in attendance to give a hearty welcome to the newly organized Uxbridge group.

Mrs. F. Williams received the very sad news on Saturday of the death of Miss Nellie Campbell, who passed away while on a visit in British Columbia. Miss Campbell was well known in the community and her death comes as a great shock.

The Young People's Union gave their drama "Who Gets the Car Tonight," in King Street United Church Sunday School room on Friday night. This was given in competition for the Evelyn Guy Cup given by the Oshawa Presbytery Young People's Union. Others competing were Port Perry and Whitby. The cup was awarded to Brooklin Y.P.U. and heartiest congratulations are extended to the group who took part and to Mrs. F. L. Jull and Miss Mary Stuart who trained them. Those in the cast were: John Medland as Mr. Jones; Ruth Heron, Mrs. Jones; Evelyn Ormiston and John Thompson, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Jones; and Verne Wilson, the boy friend of Mary Jones. All took their parts exceptionally well and were most deserving in winning the Presbytery Cup.

The most outstanding event of the year was the Y.P.U. banquet, given by the Women's Association for the society on Wednesday night, in the school room of the church. Tables were arranged in a most attractive array with spring flowers profusion making a most beautiful setting for the occasion. Following a most delicious supper a programme of interest was given. Miss Helen Jackson acted as toast mistress with Roy Ormiston leading in a lively sing-song. Miss Betty Piatti was the accompanist for the evening.

Toasts were proposed as follows: The King, Ted Middlemiss; The Ladies, John Medland and the response by Mrs. C. Wilson, President of the Women's Association. Our Boys and Girls in the service, Miss Shirley Brethour, response Miss Ruth Heron. Our local church, John Thompson, response Roy Ormiston, Secretary of the Official Board. Solos were rendered by Miss Beatrice Pilkey and Mr. C. S. Thompson, which were much enjoyed. A very delightful part of the programme was the presentation to Mrs. Frank Rogers of a pair of very lovely pictures. Mrs. Rogers has had charge of the Y.P.U. choir for the past year and has been a wonderful leader and help for the Young People and they wished in this way to express appreciation to her. The guest speaker was Mr. S. Saywell of Oshawa, who took for his theme "Young Man, Stand on Thy Feet." Mr. Saywell is always popular with the young people and his address to them was most interesting and timely. Rev. P. L. Jull introduced the speaker. The very bountiful dinner provided by the ladies, was much appreciated by the young people.

Mrs. Wm. Devitt passed away at her home here on Tuesday after an illness of some weeks. The funeral was held on Friday with interment in Salem cemetery. Rev. P. L. Jull was in charge of the service. The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Harry Lade, her daughter, with whom she lived.

Gordon Cook arrived home safely from overseas, on Friday night and was welcomed by a host of friends.

Mrs. Lloyd Brush received word on Saturday that her husband, Pte. Lloyd Brush who has been a prisoner in Germany for more than two years, had arrived in England.

Bring Home Prizes From Stratford

Raymond and Ronald Walker were in Stratford on Saturday attending the Music Festival that brought honors to Oshawa again.

Ronald won second prize in his class of nine entries for cornet soloists, 12 years and under while Raymond won fourth place in his class of seventeen entries for cornet soloists, 16 years and under. The boys also won third prize in the cornet duet class, for 21 years and under, which had five entries.

The adjudicator, Arthur Collingwood, Dean of the Faculty of Music, University of Saskathewan, praised the Oshawa boys very highly on their playing and said "They gave a splendid performance."

The boys are members of the Oshawa Civic and Regimental Band and were pupils of Bandmaster Jack Broadbent before his entry into the navy. Since then, the boys' father, also a member of the band, has undertaken their training for the contests.

KIWANIS AUTO

announced that it was time to "close up shop".

The "Fish Pond" and the Nickel Booth, both extremely popular with the younger patrons, cleaned their shelves too, while such games as the "Hoop-La", "Pitch Penny", "Free Money", and the "Shooting Gallery" were forced to turn customers away when the carnival ended.

Whitby Man Wins Car

R. M. "Max" Tyndall, 306 Byron Street South, Whitby, will attend the weekly luncheon meeting of the Oshawa Kiwanis Club today and purchase the handsome maroon 5-passenger Pontiac Coupe, as the result of his good fortune.

He is the holder of the membership ticket No. 77811, the receipt stub drawn from the huge drum by His Worship Mayor Clifford, at the stroke of midnight, before a crowd of nearly 3,000 citizens who stayed to see who would be the lucky winner.

When informed of his good fortune via telephone, Mr. Tyndall at first thought he was being "kidded" and couldn't credit his own good fortune. Interviewed by The Times-Gazette, the lucky winner stated that he was certainly glad to win the car and that as he had been considering buying one in the near future, it was especially welcome and much needed.

Mr. Tyndall, unable to attend the carnival on Saturday night, gave his neighbour, Mrs. C. Fallow, a dollar with which to purchase a book of tickets. Mrs. Fallow bought tickets for herself and for Mr. Tyndall at the arena at about nine-thirty o'clock on Saturday night.

He informed The Times-Gazette that neither he nor his wife had ever had any luck in winning such prizes before although they nearly always bought "every ticket going".

"Max" Tyndall, who was an employee of the Oshawa Dairy in this city for a period of eleven years before going into business for himself as proprietor of the Hillcrest Dairy, in February, 1944, is the immediate past-president of the Whitby Kinsmen Club. The Tyndalls have two children a daughter, 11; and a son, aged 6 years.

Brought out of bed to hear the good news, the Tyndalls were busy until early Sunday morning and again all day Sunday, answering the door bell and telephone calls from friends and neighbours extended their congratulations.

Hope Chest Stays Here

Mrs. James (Janet) Thomson, Hillside Ave., with her ticket No. 4984, kept the lovely hope chest, filled with linens, blankets, towels, etc., here in Oshawa, where she herself has resided for 18 years.

Mrs. Thomson stated that she, too, was enjoying her first win of a premier prize, although she nearly always bought tickets on all sorts of charity draws. Mrs. Thomson sold herself the ticket that won the prize. A former employee of Ontario Motor Sales, she had sold two books of "hope chest tickets" for Kiwanian Lyle Willson, and bought two tickets herself.

The draw for the hope chest was made by Mrs. Walter Stewart, of Toronto, wife of Past-Pres. "Wally" Stewart of the East York Kiwanis Club.

New Homes For Puppies

Kiwanian "Wally" made the draw for the two thoroughbred cocker spaniel puppies, one of which remained in Oshawa and the other went to Bowmanville.

Mrs. Doris Pudge, 238 Second Ave., Oshawa, with ticket No. 1969, was the first winner in the draw for the puppies and she chose the black cocker spaniel. When informed of her good luck, she stated that it was the first "worthwhile prize" she had ever won.

Reg. Hearl of Bowmanville, with ticket No. 2137, was the other winner, claiming the blonde cocker cocker spaniel. He, too, is a "first winner".

Poles Celebrate National Holiday

The national holiday of the Constitution of the Third of May, 1791, has always been celebrated by the Poles as a holiday of freedom and democracy. The Polish nation expressed in it its traditional attachment to these ideals. Free citizens in a free state, and free states in a free world—that is how Poles conceived since a long time ago the indispensable framework of political life of nations. From this source originated the Constitution of the Third of May and that is why this day, and not as in many states some day of military victory, has been recognized by the Poles as a national holiday.

For the sixth year the Poles celebrate this day during the present war, which drove freedom and democracy out from the Polish soil. Unfortunately they were not to be found in Poland this year, despite the fact that the German occupants have been expelled once and for all. If Poland had the geographical position of France, Belgium or Holland and if she had been liberated by America, British or Polish forces, then her President and Constitutional Government would now be a truly liberated Warsaw. Then these liberators of Poland would have certainly remembered that she was the first Allied nation that resisted the Germans, that never in an way cooperated with them, that suffered the greatest losses and sacrifices and despite all this fought without respite to the final victory. Then, too, these liberators would not be arresting and executing her underground fighters, and would not force the Poles to pay for such a "liberation" with half of their territories.

Unfortunately Poland is not situated in such a zone. Therefore Poland's path to a true liberation is longer than that of other nations. The Polish nation follows it unquentchingly, not losing faith in Justice and in the loyalty of her allies. Therefore Polish troops, even to this day, are fighting on all fronts, and trust that after the victory over Germany the nations that belong to the Western civilization will be able to assure Europe the fulfillment of the principles of the Polish constitution of the 3rd of May, the principles of liberty and democracy.

Catholic churches of the city, while the Protestant churches will be open to the public and it is hoped that many will avail themselves of the opportunity of thanking Almighty God for His guidance of the Allied cause.

The parade will move south on Centre Street to Gibb Street, east on Gibb to Olive Avenue, north on Albert Street to King, east on King to Mary Street, north on Mary to Elgin Street, east to Simcoe St., and thence south to Memorial Park. With the veterans will be the Sea Cadet Corps, with its band, the Air Cadet Squadron with its band, the 11th Reserve Army Tank Regiment and Royal Canadian Army Cadets and the Oshawa Pipe Band. It is hoped to have all the flags of the Allied Nations in the van of the parade escorted by a color party.

The pupils of the 6th, 7th and 8th grades of the Public and Separate Schools will join in the parade at points close to the schools which they attend. The principals of the various schools already have plans well under way for the holding of services in each of the schools in the city at an appropriate time after the general celebration — perhaps several days later.

On the return of the parade to Memorial Park a short memorial service in honor of the men who laid down their lives in battle will be conducted at the cenotaph by Padre A. J. Graves, assisted by members of the Ministerial Association.

A patriotic program will then be presented at the McLaughlin Band Shell at which His Worship Mayor Gifford will preside. Short addresses will be given by representatives of the army, navy and air force who have returned to the community from active service in the present war. In addition it is expected that speeches will be given, all of short duration, by W. H. Moore, M.P., and Arthur Williams, M.L.A.

Musical selections will be presented by the Oshawa Civic and Regimental Band, the Motor City Choir and other local artists.

The program calls for the exclusion of traffic and the closing of Centre and Simcoe Streets between Athol and McGregor Streets and Memorial Park. The surrounding streets will be floodlighted at night while strings of colored lights will be hung to brighten the scene. It is planned to hold a huge community street dance on John, Centre and Simcoe Streets at 8 p.m., following the community services of prayer and thanksgiving in the three neighboring churches at 8 p.m.

The city will decorate the band shell, the Public Utilities Building and the Old City Hall with flags and bunting and the co-operation of all citizens is requested in the decoration of their homes and places of business for the celebration.

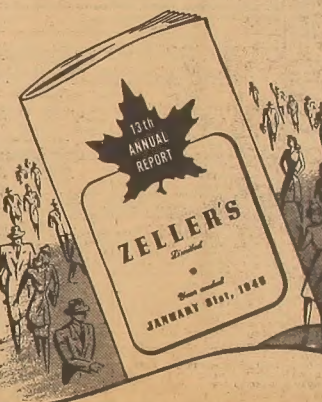
SOME FACTS OF INTEREST TO THE PEOPLE OF CANADA

DURING the past year, the cash registers in Zeller's Stores rang up a total of over $10,600,000. Believing that our customers will be interested in learning where their money goes, we are outlining a few highlights from the Company's latest Annual Report. A copy of the report, as submitted to Shareholders, which gives more complete details of the Company's operations and policies, will be sent free on request.

Zeller's Limited is a Canadian Company, maintaining 27 retail stores in 26 cities across Canada. The Company operates in Canada only, and is not controlled by, or affiliated with, any other organization.



$7,511,379 FOR MERCHANDISE

To provide for your wants, 69.13% of all money received in Zeller Stores in the past year ($7,511,379 out of a total of $10,865,015) was spent in turn by the Company in order to acquire the kind of merchandise that its customers wanted. More than 90% of these goods were made in Canada, so nearly seven million dollars went to the support of Canadian industries employing many thousands of people.

$575,000 GOVERNMENT TAXES

Zeller's Limited paid in taxes to the Canadian Government in the past year $575,000, or 5.29% of total receipts. This amount does not include $85,000 that will be refunded after the war. So, more than 5 cents out of every dollar spent in Zeller Stores went permanently into the public funds of this country.

$698,713 RENT, LIGHT, ETC.

All of the Zeller Stores in which you do your shopping have to be maintained as attractive, comfortable, well-lighted places, for your convenience, and 6.44% of all money received last year was used to pay rents, property taxes, light, heat, water, insurance, and the incidental expenses involved in keeping up property.

$1,506,736 REMUNERATION TO STAFF

The hundreds of employees who served you at Zeller's during the past year, received a total remuneration of more than a million and a half dollars, or 13.87% of all receipts. This sum includes not only their fixed wages but, in addition, a share of the profits which they received in bonuses or commissions. This conforms to the Company's long-established policy that the employees should participate directly, to some degree, in the Company's fortunes.

$289,862 PROFIT SHARING

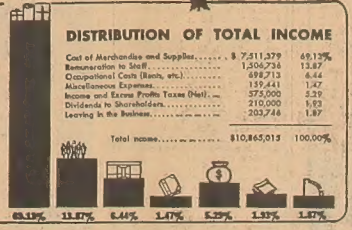
All Zeller employees participate in some form of profit sharing. Many hold individual wage agreements, which provide for a generous fixed salary or drawing allowance, plus a commission based on a percentage of profits. All others, including former male employees now on active service, participate in a Standard Profit Sharing and Christmas Bonus Plan. The combined total of all bonuses and commissions amounted to $289,862, or over 19% of the total remuneration to the staff.

$48,687 EMPLOYEES' VACATIONS

All Zeller employees with six months' service or more are entitled to summer vacations with pay and all with two or more years' service are entitled also to winter vacations with pay. They received during their vacation periods last year total salaries and wages amounting to $48,687.

DISTRIBUTION OF TOTAL INCOME

Cost of Merchandise and Supplies	$ 7,511,379	69.13%
Remuneration to Staff	1,506,736	13.87
Occupational Costs (Rents, etc.)	698,713	6.44
Miscellaneous Expenses	139,441	1.27
Income and Excess Profits Taxes (Net)	575,000	5.29
Dividends to Shareholders	210,000	1.93
Leaving in the Business	203,746	1.87
Total income	$10,865,015	100.00%



The Company has been in existence for thirteen years. During that time it has paid its own employees more than $10,500,000 in salaries, wages, bonuses and commissions; it has paid the Federal Government more than $2,500,000 in taxes; and has spent over $58,000,000 for merchandise and supplies. Over 90% of the goods sold by the Company are produced in Canada, and since the cost of merchandise is largely the cost of the labor required to produce it, it can be conservatively estimated that over the past thirteen years the Company's operations have resulted in more than $50,000,000 finding its way into the pay envelopes of Canadians. This includes those who work for the Company and those engaged in producing goods and bringing them to the Company's stores. For the same period the Shareholders, whose financing made it possible to establish the business, received $941,563.

The Company's policy is based on the firm belief that its success depends entirely on maintaining just relations with its customers, its employees, and its suppliers, and on its ability to be an asset to the communities in which it operates.

This is an example of modern Free Enterprise in action.

RETAILERS TO THRIFTY CANADIANS

OVER THE BACK FENCE

with MARY NOBES

During these war years many conventions, reunions and conferences have been cancelled because of restricted travelling and hotel accommodations. A good many schools have held class reunions in districts rather than one large gathering at the Alma Mater. But Vassar College has introduced a new note insofar as reunions are concerned.

The class of '45, Vassar, postponed what would have been its tenth reunion and substituted for the class gathering a questionnaire sent to all members. This questionnaire included all questions which would bring other classmates up to date on the history and appearance of the person writing the answers. There are some pretty personal queries too, such as "Weight," "Color of Hair", "Wrinkles."

Couldn't a person with a sense of humor have a lot of fun with a questionnaire like that. And the questions might have well have been answered with a humorous twist as with the truth because all their classmates wouldn't believe the answers anyway. Supposing one wrote she weighed 115. Some of her more catty classmates might believe it but they would probably remark, "If she only weighs that much she must look like a hay. You can't diet that much without having the muscles go flabby and the lines appear on your face."

But supposing the one with the sense of humor wrote that she now weighs two pounds less than a Mack truck . . . her classmates can't say much. They don'tsactually know whether she is rolling with bulges or whether she is just sliding. The same would apply to the wrinkles . . . if you had answer none, your friends would think you had had your face lifted. If you said you looked like a relief map of the Alps, they wouldn't know how many wrinkles and lines you had.

There would be definite drawbacks. What about the woman and her operation? You might reach a larger audience but they wouldn't have to read all the details. And then there's the "hausfrau" type who just hasn't time for anything since the baby arrived. How could she adequately put across all the details of the birth pangs, the beauty of her first-born and the cleverness of same. No, there would be drawbacks but you could have a chickens of a lot of fun with that questionnaire. Of course it would all be ruined if they asked that a modern snapshot be enclosed.

To another subject. Jim Shields in announcing one of the numbers he would sing at the first show of the General Motors Family Party said it was the Irish ballad "I'll take You Home Again, Kathleen." He said afterwards he knew he was making a common error but he has heard it called an Irish ballad so many times he just automatically said. Actually the song "I'll Take You Home Again Kathleen," doesn't mention Ireland and it hasn't any connection with Ireland. Did you know that?

"I'll Take You Home Again Kathleen", was written by a native of Virginia, Thomas Paine Westendorf . . . . and if you can find any connection between Ireland and the name Westendorf, well . . . . Westendorf's wife was not in very good health and she wanted to go to New York to visit her mother. She dreaded the long journey from Virginia to New York in winter weather and Westendorf told her that if she waited until spring he would accompany her on her journey.

That evening, within three hours, he wrote the words and music renewing his promise to his wife that he would take her to New York in the Spring. "Across the ocean" is apparently poetic license, or they were going to make the trip by boat—which would mean the Atlantic ocean.

You don't believe me, eh? You'll find all this given in an interesting book in the Oshawa Public Library called "Famous Songs and Their Stories" by James J. Gellis.

O.C.V.I. Girl Students Contribute 1360 Articles To Red Cross

A prescription: take 500 girls, filled with energy and a desire to serve their country, add teachers with broad vision and superb planning ability, raise enough money to purchase flannel and wool, mix together for three months. The result: a shipment of Red Cross goods that filled the hearts of the workers in the Red Cross rooms here with joy and articles which will be a delight to the mothers of children in Britain and Europe.

Those who don't hear about the Red Cross work of the O.C.V.I. students should know that the boys and girls work together on all sorts of projects to raise money for Red Cross work. The order for material is given to the Red Cross and the money raised pays for this material. Then every Monday night the girls of the school meet after four o'clock for Red Cross work. A time limit is set on each project and the work is done in leisure time at home.

Just how much can be accomplished by 500 enthusiastic girls with excellent support from the teachers, can be seen in the following figures. In January the assigned goods, which had been made since school opened in September, were sent to the local Red Cross for shipment to headquarters. At that time 99 infants' sweaters, 100 pairs of long bootees, 200 bonnets and 100 pairs of short bootees were shipped.

This week more of the completed work reached the local workrooms and in order to judge the work adequately a careful perusal should be made of the following figures.

Received at the local Red Cross rooms this week from students of the O.C.V.I. were: 262 babies' night gowns, 710 diapers (each washed and ready for wear), 180 suits of pyjamas for 6-year-olds, 38 baby blankets (with the edges blanket-stitched), 1 baby quilt (of flannel with applqued figures), 27 dressing gowns for 8-year-old boys, 80 bonnets, 40 baby jackets, 40 sets of sweaters and socks for 4-year-olds, 60 pairs of short bootees, 60 pairs of long bootees, 4 pairs of mitts.

The women in charge of shipping these articles to headquarters praise the fine needlework and the excellent knitting done by the girl students from first to fifth forms. The Red Cross workers explained that they have been receiving just such co-operation from the O.C.V.I. students for the past five years of war. A great deal of credit for the commendable work done, was attributed by the Red Cross workers to the teachers in charge of the O.C.V.I. Red Cross work.

The many lovely flowers and cards and letters of greeting made the occasion one long to be remembered.

Wed In Ottawa, Will Reside Here

Red and white carnations graced the altar of St. Anthony's Church, Ottawa, for a wedding at eight-forty-five o'clock Tuesday morning, April 24, when Rev. Father M. Ferraro Jerome united in marriage Barbara Nadock, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. August Nadock, Otter Lake, Ontario, and Clement Peter Kent, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Clement Kent, Warminster. The High Mass was sung by Rev. Father Jerome and the wedding music was rendered by the Christian Brothers.

The bride was given in marriage by Cpl. George Letandress, and was lovely in a street-length suit of heavenly blue, trimmed with white brown fur. Pearl buttons were arranged to the waist of the jacket and she wore a headdress of blue and white flowers and a shoulder-length veil. Her corsage was of Better Day roses. She carried a white prayer book with streamers of white ribbon and rosettes.

Miss Louise Kent was bridesmaid and wore a street-length suit of wine with a matching headdress with blue flowers and a blue shoulder-length veil. Her corsage was of gold tipped with wine carnations.

Mr. Lawrence Cybulski of Renfrew was groomsman.

The reception was held at the home of the bride where the bride's table was centred with a four-tier wedding cake and a bouquet of white carnations.

The gift of the bridegroom to the bride was a double strand of pearls, to the bridesmaid a double strand of pearls and to the groomsman a leather billfold.

Mr. and Mrs. Kent left on a wedding trip to eastern points and on their return will reside at 264 Centre Street, Oshawa.

Harrogate, Eng.—(CP)—Mrs. Ethel Horatia Stapylton left her most valued possession, a 17th-century Sanctus Seraphin violin, to the leader of the London Philharmonic Orchestra, Jean Pougnet, to be passed on to each successive leader.

Follow Orders Of The Doctor

By W. H. KARN, Phm. B. of Karn's Drug Store

What doctor orders is for your own best good, and how the orders are filled is just as important.

Exactness in compounding a prescription is the conscientious druggist's Golden Rule. Every patient should be as scrupulous in obeying the instructions on the label.

"Take every three hours" means just that—not three times a day, or now and then. If the directions include a glass of water to accompany medication, there is a special reason for this.

Follow the orders of your doctor, every detail is important.

And it is important that you choose a druggist who specializes in prescription compounding.

This is the twelfth of a series of Editorial advertisements appearing in this paper each Tuesday.

Doreen Sutherland Bride of F. O. Juniper

The chapel of St. George's Church was the scene of a pretty wedding at one-thirty o'clock Saturday afternoon when Doreen M. Sutherland became the bride of Flying Officer Dennis G. Juniper. Rev. David M. Ross officiated and the wedding music was played by Mr. Cecil Walker, church organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Sutherland of Oshawa and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. Henry Juniper and the late Mrs. Juniper of Woodstock.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by her sister, Mrs. Jean Mary Brotherton, as matron of honor, and her niece, Judith Lane Utting of Woodstock. Flying Officer Allen Pickett of Hamilton was groomsman.

The bride wore a street-length dress of white crepe, fashioned in a draped style with trimming of self ruching. She wore a string of baby pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, and her veil was arranged from a halo of white gardenias. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

The matron of honor was gowned in chartreuse crepe with a black lace yoke, a matching feather cap, black accessories and she carried a cascade bouquet of Talisman roses, sweet peas and larkspur. The dainty little flower girl wore baby pink crepe, a headdress of pink roses and veiling, and carried a nosegay of sweet peas, larkspur and roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Blue Room, Hotel Genosha. Mrs. Sutherland, mother of the bride, chose a becoming black crepe dress with fringe trimming, black accessories and a corsage of roses and sweet peas.

Flying Officer and Mrs. Juniper left on a wedding trip to Toronto and Montreal, the bride wearing a powder blue wool suit, black accessories, a winter white lama topcoat and a corsage of Briarcliff roses. On their return the bride will reside in Oshawa and F.O. Juniper will return to Yorkton, Sask., where he is an instructor.

Honored at Party On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Taylor, 165½ Ontario Avenue, were guests of honor at a party on Friday evening when their daughters, Mrs. William Badour and Miss Lily Taylor, entertained at the home of Mrs. Badour, 315 Celina Street, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor on the occasion of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The guests were intimate friends who enjoyed games and dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were the recipients of many lovely gifts of silver. Tasty refreshments, including an anniversary cake, were served by the co-hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were married in Toronto on April 27, 1920, by Rev. Trevor H. Davies. Mr. Taylor, who suffered a heart attack at Christmas time and has been in poor health since, is a veteran of the war of 1914-18, when he served four years and nine months with the artillery. He came to Canada on August 11, 1919, and was employed by the Oriental Textile and General Motors.

They have nine children: Mrs. William Badour, Lily, Albert, Shirley, Barbara and Joyce, all of Oshawa; Tilly of Windsor, Frederick Charles, serving overseas with the artillery; Pte. Violet Taylor of Kitchener. There are six grandchildren.

Labelling Of Clothing And Footwear Is Important

The labelling of clothing and footwear is one of the most important steps taken by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to guard against degradation of quality. The labelling of garments enables the Board's Standards Administration to trace any complaint from the weaver, tanner and manufacturer to the wearer and thus check the flow of degraded merchandise to the retail market.

The Board has extended its control measures as further protection for the public by making compulsory labelling necessary on almost all types of men's, women's and children's clothing.

After May 15 no retailer, wholesaler or manufacturer may sell any of this merchandise unless a label or tag is attached showing the manufacturer's WPTB license number, the line number and size. This does not mean that well-known trade names will disappear from the retail market. If a manufacturer wishes he may use his own trademark instead of the WPTB license number. However, these trademarks must be registered with the Prices Board. If a retailer wishes to place his own trade-name on a garment he may do so provided the manufacturer's license number appears on the label.

Clothes which have been custom tailored or made to measure by a tailor or home dressmaker must have the WPTB license number on the label.

This regulation is not intended to impose increased labor on manufacturers, but to protect them. The regulation works two ways. If customers feel they did not receive value or that there is degradation of quality they can report this to the Prices Board. However, if a customer is completely satisfied they know where the garment was manufactured and are able to purchase a garment made the same manufacturer when they require another one.

Airwomen Overseas Learn Handicrafts

By FIL/O. Dorothy Howey, RCAF Women's Division F.R.O.

With The RCAF Overseas—Airwomen are homemakers at heart, as attendance at handicraft classes at a unit of RCAF Bomber Group overseas, proves.

Duty hours are long and irregular for airwomen stenographers, watch keepers, chefs and safety equipment workers at the bases from which Canadian pilots and aircraft take off nightly for targets in Germany. The airwomen take advantage of shift work to put in odd hours making woollen rugs, leather book-covers, handbags, gloves, slippers and plastic articles for home and personal wear.

The handicraft "cabin" is open three evenings a week and during off hours as well. An enthusiastic committee of airmen, airwomen, one civilian and two service instructors, keeps the interest high.

The classes are sponsored by the education officers of the unit, F/L. Kenneth Young of Nordegg, Alberta, and F/O. Evans of Victoria, B.C., and are open to airmen as well as airwomen.

This is the scene. In the middle of a large room, a work table is piled high with wool for making rugs, leather for suede gloves and handbags and plastic for making articles for home use and decoration. The room is crowded with workers, some sewing at the machines, others planing wood for desk sets and others buying materials for new articles.

LAW's Dorothy Oakden of Edmonton and Helen Woodcroft of Victoria are busy cutting out moss green suede for a pair of gloves for a member of the WAAF who was busy planning her first "civvie street" ensemble. LAW Hazel Clapp of Powell River, B.C., is winding peacock blue wool into a ball for a sweater, and Sergeant Helen King of Uxbridge is holding the wool for her.

In the background, at the huge cupboard filled with leathers of every colour in the rainbow, LAW Mary Weber of Munster, Sask., is examining sheepy wool for a pair of warm, bedroom slippers she plans to make.

Forced to admit that masculine workmanship was as good as feminine, LAW Mary Henderson of Vancouver is admiring the woollen rug made by LAU "Mac" McGill of Gorman, Manitoba. The rug is rose-trimmed with blue at the edges and with a blue RCAF crest in the centre. Mary then showed her rug of airforce blue background with the crest in wine in the centre.

Perched on the corner of the table, LAW Hazel Clapp studies a knitting book. LAW Helen Luchak of Hamilton calls over to her from the sewing machine to "come and see" the brown suede handbag she is working on. The handbag, a tightened room effect, is to match a belt already completed.

At the desk where materials are purchased, a few finished products are on display—a pigskin leather handbag with matching gloves, a book cover in imitation alligator skin, and compact covers in scarlet, green and blue, comb cases and desk accessories in wood and leather. Dorothy Oakden is showing a completed blotter for a desk, the holder made of beige leather trimmed with corners of green.

At another table airmen are experimenting with plastics. First the long tubes of colored plastic are heated, then moulded into bracelets, rings and other articles of jewellery. At another table, a lad is completing a double picture frame made of perspex and wood. The base is of inlaid woods and the upright of perspex.

The officers at the station are enthusiastic about the reception of the handicraft idea. "The class has doubled in size in the few months it has been organized," said F/L. Young.

LAW Woodcroft, who is on the committee in charge of the hut, has a lot to do with buying materials from which articles are made. "We are constantly being asked for leather, wool and other materials. I'm sure the girls are finding it lots of fun to make they now things now for their first civilian clothes."

Centre Street W.A. East Group Holds Tea and Sale

Undaunted by the inclemency of the weather the women of the East Group of W.A. of Centre Street Church prepared for their spring sale of work and tea, and were rewarded by a large gathering of friends.

Rev. T. H. P. Anderson opened the sale at 3 p.m. The breakfast-loaded home-cooking table, under the direction of Mrs. A. V. Drew, Mrs. Norm Mochin and Mrs. E. W. Willson, was the chief attraction. Mrs. F. Howard and Mrs. W. T. Knight had a wonderful display of quilts and apron.

Mrs. W. Chesler's table of children's wear was attractive. A white elephant table in the charge of Mrs. E. Stephenson and Mrs. W. E. Willon was well patronized.

The fancy work department under the supervision of Mrs. C. L. Brown and Mrs. Wm. Riding, looked lovely with so many different pieces of beautiful handwork on display.

The tea room was attractive with its yellow daffodils and gleaming silver. Mrs. Knight poured tea while Mrs. Harry Young and her assistants served tasty refreshments.

Many comments were heard on the appearance of the school room, recently renovated and especially the lovely hardwood floor. Mrs. Terwilligar and her group are gratified by the great success.

Christ Church Evening Guild Plans Activities

The Evening Guild of Christ Church met at the home of Mrs. S. Gales, 99 Connaught St., on Thursday evening. The meeting was advised that the "Everyday Cards" would be available for sale at the next meeting, and also that the rummage sale had been postponed until Thursday, the 3rd of May.

The rest of the evening was devoted to preparation of articles for the sale of work which is being held on May 12.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Leslie and Mrs. Knowler. Mrs. Gales has again offered her home for the next meeting of the Guild on May 3.

CHURCH WORKER, LEAVING AJAX, IS HONORED BY W.A.

Miss Marjorie Cunningham to Live in Toronto After Marriage

(Joyce Berndt, Corr.)

Ajax, April 30.— Miss Marjorie Cunningham, who has been the church worker, Ajax, for the past two years, is leaving the village to be married. She will live in Toronto. The other night the ladies of the W.A. gave a surprise party for Miss Cunningham at the home of Mrs. George Schell and a delightful evening was enjoyed by all the guests. The entertainment included a mock wedding which was superlatively funny. In fact, all agreed that the entire evening was a riot of fun. The color scheme for the party was white and blue, white and te dining table was truly lovely with a wedding cake taking the place of honor in the centre and all the other good and dainty things round about. The ladies presented Miss Cunningham with a bride's book and a dainty corsage. And with the gifts were included the sincere good wishes of all the W. A. ladies who have come to know Miss Cunningham so well during her stay in Ajax. The W.A., the Church Board and the Sunday School all presented with cheques as well.

Miss Kathleen Watson has arrived in Ajax to take over Miss Cunningham's duties. She will live among the girls in residence, and, on Wednesday night, Miss Watson will speak before the W.A.

Mrs. H. C. Berndt has terminated her four months in office as president of W.A., and Mrs. George Simpson will now take over for an equal length of time.

Congratulations to Barbara Annadale who is is birthdaying.

All that and required to put the playground adjacent to community Hall in shape is going to run into a lot of money, folks. So we do hope the sand, once it arrives, will not run into the sewer with the first heavy rain. Community Council and Children's Recreational Council are counting on counting their shekels, at the moment, to determine just how many square yards can be sanded—at so much a square yard.

Rev. A. W. Jones' morning service at Ajax Interdenominational Church gave all those present real food for thought. The subject of the sermon was "How the Church Can Help the San Francisco Conference."

The Gibson's on Mary Street are parents of twin baby girls, born just a few days go.

Awarded M.M.

Hilda Kennedy of Windsor Avenue is proud to learn that her brother, Sgt. John A. Lawry, has been awarded a Military Medal while serving in the Mediterranean area.

—The Library committee tells us that those many pocket books, fictions, in paper covers, will be sold at 10c each, inasmuch as they prove impracticable for lending library purposes. Many mysteries are included.

Now about the rummage sale which the W.A. held at Community Hall on Friday. The day was dull and eventually it teemed rain. All those many women involved shcanned the skies with much misgiving for was all their collecting, sorting and pricing to be in vain? Who would venture out on such a day? But wonder of wonders, the crowds came despite the we ather and by five o'clock the hundreds of items donated had changed hands and the W.A. treasurer was the richer by more than one hundred fifty dollars. Tired and confused by four o'clock, after hours of sales and such, the women eyed an ill-sorted lot of dishes, mats, boots, novelty items and a few dresses and coats. And they were seized with the idea of auctioning off the dresses and coats at the best prices possible. Mrs. Schell acted as auctioneer and the things sold speedily at unheard of prices. Thus along came the children from school with little to spend but a terrific yen to buy something. So each child had the choice of any one item remaining at one cent. Thus the remaining hats rode away on juvenile heads (boys and girls equally bedecked) and little girls bought high-heeled slippers to play "grown up" with much zest. Thus the day terminated in peals of laughter for all and the happy thought that each customer had left the hall delighted with the bargains there found. And rare bargains they were too.

Had we told you that our community Counsellor, Mrs. Susan Peacock, is soon to leave Ajax to assume responsibility in another Wartime Housing project.

Ajax Kinsmen are planning a three-day Karnival to be held June 21st, 22nd and 23rd. Remember what a lot of fun the folks from all round about had at the last Kins Karnival in Ajax.

Ajax Horticultural Society will hold a big open meeting on May 9th. Children's Recreational Council will hold regular dances in Community hall each second and fourth Thursday of the month.

Rev. A. W. Jones today announced that Ajax Interdenominational Church will be open for prayer when the formal announcement comes through of victory in Europe. Canadian Legion, Ajax Branch, we understand is planning a service in Recreation Centre on V-E Day and it is thought that the Kinsmen, as well, may plan a program for the big day.

Now, you fellows who delight in breaking lights and distributing packed cars in Ajax—here's a warning. There's a provincial policeman now living in our midst and we understand he's pretty alert.

Community Council has decided to invite the public to all monthly meetings held at the hall. Such meetings will be duly publicized that villagers may plan to attend.

Mrs. Don Zennett and children, Susan and Billie, leave today for Montreal to join Don who has gone ahead to take over his new job and arrange the purchase of a lovely new home there. We believe the Finneys of Oshawa will take over their house on Windsor St. here.

Don't forget—"Trial By Jury" is soon to be presented at Recreation Centre by Ajax Victory Singers.

Wasn't that a money of a dance at Rec. Centre on Friday night last? We hear some 900 attended (and did they ever pour in after the night shift) but it seemed like 4,000 at times. There was a good orchestra and a floor show and a lot of fun for all attending.

The Piccadilly Club's Spring Frolic will be held at Staff Hotel on May 9th. Same good orchestra and same good time guaranteed.

On Thursday, May 3rd there is to be a Bowlers' Banquet at Rec. Centre and some fun. Zena Cheevers, Ernie Cavell, William Campbell and Chas. Bodley will entertain and Boyd Valleau will play for the dancing to follow. Wednesday night five men's bowling teams from the various Ajax bowling leagues will journey to Toronto to take part in the C.B.A. Bowling Tournament there.

Canadian Garden Service — 1945

(By Gordon Lindsay Smith)

For Tenderness

Quick, unchecked growth is the real secret of tender vegetables. Crisp carrots, parsnips, celery and similar things without stringless or tough cores comes from gardens where growth has been hurried along, undrecked by weeds or other neglect. Even if the weather is none too favorable, experienced gardeners can produce this sort of quality.

First they keep the soil well cultivated, pull to keep weeds eliminated and also to conserve moisture and encourage quick development in dry weather. Then thin those vegetables which need spacing in order that there is proper, even and speedy development. They harvest vegetables when they are at their best, just the right size for eating and before they start to harden and mature.

But that is not all. They keep a fresh supply coming on all through the season by making plantings ten day to two weeks apart right up to the 1st of July. It is the greatest mistake, old gardeners point out, to sow all seed on a single afternoon. Carrots, beans, beets and many other vegetables can be planted successfully over a period of from three weeks to eight weeks in almost every part of Canada. If strung out in this way, the harvest is extended equally at the other end. To extend the season still further one can use early, medium and late varieties.

Time for Good Weeding

No matter how one looks at it weeding is not a pleasant job, and in a small, crowded garden there are few short cuts. But it is really wonderful what a feeling of satisfaction one gets from getting the garden really cleaned up once. Moreover, according to those who know something about this sort of thing, once a garden has been really weeded it is a simple thing, or comparatively so, to keep it clean. The worst weeds are those that start early and get really dug in tight.

Showy Flowers

An amazing showing can be made with a few annual flowers and with very little effort. Cosmos, giant marigolds, zinnias, petunias, portulaca, nicotine, alyssum are easily grown almost anywhere in Canada. Some of the larger flowers like cosmos and marigolds and nicotine can actually be used in the place of shrubs. Seeds should be started early and in finely prepared soil. Plants are transplanted to a permanent quarters when they are well established with several sets of leaves. Some time can be saved by buying ready started bedding plants. For husky growth, tall cosmos, gladiolus, dahlias, giant marigolds and zinnias should have about two feet each way. Petunias, nasturtiums, medium marigolds, need about a foot apart for best results — smaller things like alyssum require six inches each way.

Such complaint shall be prepared according to Form 26 and shall set out the reasons for complaining and shall be accompanied by an affidavit of the complainant, Form 27, and the same shall be filed with such clerk of the proper revising officer not later than the first day appointed for the sittings of the revising officer.

Copies of forms 26 and 27 may be obtained upon application to the Returning Officer or to the Clerk of the Municipality.

URGE SPREADING OUT PRODUCTION

Politics Will Destroy Unions, James Leach of Windsor Says

Speaking at a meeting of the Labor Advisory Committee of the Ontario Riding Progressive Conservative Association last night, James Leach, who is a Progressive Conservative candidate in the Windsor area, outlined a scheme which it supported wholeheartedly by labor, he believes would do much to eliminate the problems arising from seasonal employment in the automotive industry.

The basis for the scheme, which has been called the "Leach Plan" and which Mr. Leach said had been supported by John Bracken and Premier George Drew, was the belief that production in the industry can be spread out over the whole year and that this must be done if the members of the armed forces are not to return to conditions in this respect as they existed in the years prior to the war.

Pointing out that he had no quarrel whatsoever with management, Mr. Leach said that as a result of the dynamic nature of the industry, of the rush to get cars out, that the little man in the plant has merely been overlooked. With reference to the specific points in his scheme, he said that there would be an economic stabilization plan operating throughout Canada with an economic stabilization commission which would gclean information from the various industrial centres. As a means of guaranteeing the man in the plant a certain yearly income, he suggested a "basic wage," which would be paid every month regardless of any lay-off, as well as a "production wage" which would be paid in addition to this.

In conclusion Mr. Leach condemned any entrance into politics on the part of labor unions. "Union leaders should regard themselves as salesmen selling the brotherhood of mankind. They must be in social politics but never in party politics," he declared, adding that whereas unions must be united to effective politics will rip them to pieces and also that politics, particularly of a radical nature, will prevent many outsiders from co-operating with the unions.

ALLOWANCE PLAN

fice. For example, applications received in August would be checked and if in order, would be paid for payments commencing with the month of September".

Another question being asked frequently is "Is it possible for an applicant to lose money by applying for Family Allowances?" The table above answers this question. It is impossible to lose money but it is possible to receive the money in small sums monthly and then pay the entire sum back at the end of the year. One can't lose money but those with an income of more than $3000 will not receive any added money.

The Government suggests that people with an income of more than $3000 can apply for Family Allowances in order to protect themselves from a future decreased income.

The extent to which the taxpayer will benefit from Family Allowances in addition to present tax credits for children (as percentage of Family Allowances received) is shown in the following table:

Amount of Taxable Income	Benefit %
Not over $1200	100%
Over $1200 but not over $1400	80%
Over $1400 but not over $1600	60%
Over $1600 but not over $1800	70%
Over $1800 but not over $2000	60%
Over $2000 but not over $2200	50%
Over $2200 but not over $2400	40%
Over $2400 but not over $2600	30%
Over $2600 but not over $2800	20%
Over $2800 but not over $3000	10%
Over $3000	0%

Adjustment Later

Maybe this question has been bothering you. "Will the additional income tax consequent on Family Allowances payments be deducted at all at the source?" Mr. Ilsley answers that by saying "In all cases those who apply for and are eligible to receive Family Allowance will receive them in full month by month, and the adjustment to remove duplication will be made in the payment of income tax. As far as possible, current income tax deductions at the source will be adjusted to take into account the new situation when Family Allowance payments commence, in order to avoid placing an awkward burden on the taxpayers at the end of the year".

"If I receive Family Allowance will I have to include that amount in my taxable income?" The answer is no. "Special attention is drawn to the fact that the income ranges used above refer to taxable income", Mr. Ilsley says, "and any amounts received as Family Allowances should not therefore be included in calculating income for this purpose because Family Allowances are not taxable".

married person supporting children. Another table applies to single persons who support children but have not married status, starting with a taxable income of $960. The same applies to married persons serving in the armed forces in Canada. In the latter bracket the income table starts with those earning not over $2100. Those earning $2100 or less, serving in the armed forces in Canada, do not have to deduct anything from tax deductions.

Those who are in special groups, other than a married person (civilian) with children (for which complete tables have been given) should write to the Regional Director of Family Allowances, Department of National Health and Welfare, 21 Wellington Street East, Toronto, asking for the special tables.

Should Include Soldiers' Names On Voters' List

The Returning Officer, Joseph P. Mangan, K.C., has stated that some confusion appears to have existed with respect to the right of persons on active service with the Naval, Military or Air orces of Canada, resident at the time of their enrolment in this Electoral District, and now stationed in depots, training camps, training centres, training schools, barracks, etc., in Canada, to have their names placed upon the list of electors for this Electoral District for the approaching Federal Election.

Mr. Mangan states that in his opinion all such persons are entitled to have their names placed upon the list of electors for this district for the approaching election unless since enrolment such persons have established some other ordinary residence in Canada.

Mr. Mangan accordingly recommends that the families of all persons on Active Service within the above category whose names have not been placed upon the lists of electors, apply before the appropriate Revising Officer to have their names placed upon the lists of electors for the above-mentioned election.

PHONE SHORTAGE

sure that everyone who wants a telephone will get it at the earliest possible moment after telephone instruments, switchboards and lines become available, Mr. Spencer stated. Preliminary work is already under way. For example, although almost all telephone cable is being shipped overseas, underground conduit is being laid now to encase new cable when it is delivered. Similarly, new telephone buildings will be erected in advance to house new equipment.

This assurance is cold comfort to the man who wants a telephone now," he concluded, "but we feel that the public should be told the facts. We hope that they will understand and be patient."

Speaking of the quantity and complexity of war equipment produced by the telephone companies, the speaker said one company alone has supplied 1,300,000 telephones for war use or enough to place three in every home in Canada. For instance one battleship takes 1,700 miles of wiring and 1,700 radio tubes.

High Replacement Needs

The difficulty of maintaining communication on the field of battle and the large amount of equipment needed for replacement was illustrated by the statement that one line was re-laid 35 times in 14 days in Germany while in the first 21 days of the Italian invasion 5,300 miles of telephone wire were laid, or 240 miles per day.

That the efforts of the telephone companies have been devoted exclusively to the war effort was shown by the statement that 7,300 scientists and research workers have devoted 75 per cent of their efforts to the war.

During his address Mr. Spencer conducted a number of demonstrations of equipment which has been developed by the Bell Laboratories. These included talking over a beam of flight. Muscle noises, and the throb of the heart were clearly heard through the medium of the electrical stethoscope. Throat microphones, used by men in planes and tanks were demonstrated together with an artificial larynx which permits persons to speak following serious throat operations.

Ladies' Night Held By Sporting Club

Orono, April 30—A large number were present at the Ladies' Night held Saturday by the Orono Fish and Hunt Club at which sportsmen from Toronto gave illustrated talks on various phases of outdoor life.

Russell Colborne showed movies of wild bird life and trapping at Hudson Bay and O. Fletcher gave a talk and demonstration on fly casting, while James Henderson of the C.P.R. showed movies taken across Canada. Piano selections were rendered by Mrs. Everett Brown.

On Sunday some of the local sporting enthusiasts took the visitors on a fishing expedition from which Dr. MacKenzie returned with nine speckled trout and, Percy Lunn with eight while among the visitors, Mr. Colborne hooked eight, Mr. Fletcher three, and Mr. Brown three.

AT THE SOUTH POLE

Penguins are found at the South Pole but not at the North.

YES, she's in there . . . all five feet, five inches of her . . . fighting courageously—tenaciously—resourcefully!

No dispatches come from her battle front. What is it but four walls and a roof—with perhaps a picket fence? Yet it is the fountain of a nation's strength—the sacred cause for which men risk their lives.

She has no sympathy for moans about wartime trials and restrictions. She meets them every day and takes them in her stride.

She needs no picture stories to tell her the truth about war. With the sure instinct of wife and mother, she knows the agony of waiting and the bitterness of loss.

"Millions" and "billions" mean nothing to her. But shrewdly she senses that one inescapable price of victory is hard cash in fabulous amounts. And she knows who must supply it.

Watch her when the time comes to buy Victory Bonds! Has she savings of her own? She lends them eagerly. The family savings which her work and thrift have made possible? They must buy a full measure of victory to the last dollar, or she will know the reason why!

And alongside her realism for today she builds her plan for tomorrow. She fully intends that those savings shall make it come true!

Cites Wide Appeal Employee Papers

"A recent survey shows that there are two million monthly readers of employee newspapers published by business concerns in Canada, and Government officials have been high in their praise of the wartime job accomplished by this type of literature."

This statement was made by George A. Fletcher of the General Motors Public Relations Department, in an address to the Women's Advertising Club at their regular meeting in Toronto last night.

Mr. Fletcher was one of the organizers and first president of the Canadian Association of Personnel Publication Editors and he traced the development of company publications from the early stages of the war until now. Information had been co-ordinated by this national editors' association in co-operation with various government departments and a very efficient distribution system has been built up, the speaker said. Most of this information was designed specifically for industrial people, to give them an idea of where their work fits into the war effort.

The purpose of company publications, as outlined by the speaker, is to strive for teamwork in industry. This was being accomplished by many editors who were helping employees in getting to know one another better. It was also felt that a knowledge of the other fellow's job, gained through stories on all phases of plant production, would lead to co-operation between different departments because of a better understanding of the other fellow's problems.

TO DISCUSS CONFERENCE

Pat Conroy, Secretary-Treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, will address a Membership Meeting of Local 222 in the Union Hall tomorrow night on the subject "The World Trade Union Conference". Mr. Conroy, with J. E. McGuire, Secretary-Treasurer of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and C. H. Millard, National Director of the United Steel Workers of America, attended the conference in London, England, early in February last when trade union delegates from 48 countries met to draw up a new world trade union federation.

Concussion From Unusual Accident

Richard Wright of Pickering is in Oshawa General Hospital suffering from severe concussion and lacerations to the head as the result of an unusual accident at General Motors yesterday morning.

Mr. Wright, employed in the Shipping Department of General Motors, is reported to have been standing inside the shipping room and leaned over to pick up something beside the electrically-operated doors. At the same time, another employee approaching outside pulled the cord which opens the doors. These slid back and caught Mr. Wright's head between the door and the wall.

He was removed to the General Motors Hospital where he was attended by the plant physician, Dr. Victor Williams. Later he was removed to the Oshawa General Hospital, where he is under the care of Dr. G. L. Bird. X-ray plates show severe concussion. He will be confined to hospital for several days but is showing marked improvement today.

Has Arrived Home From Overseas

Stationed in England and Scotland with the Canadian Forestry Corps since April 20, 1944, Pte. S. Bid Hobbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hobbs, 119 Agnes Street, returned to Oshawa on Sunday, to spend twenty-one days leave.

Pte. Hobbs enlisted in July, 1943, at Toronto and after training at Toronto, Brantford, Petawawa and Debert, N.S., was posted overseas, arriving in April of the following year.

A resident of Oshawa all his life, Sid was born on December 8, 1919, and received his education at Mary Street Public School. A baseball enthusiast he was employed at General Motors at the time of his enlistment in the Canadian Army.

He has three brothers, Harvey and Jack discharged from the armed forces and Ray at home, also two sisters, Mrs. L. Anderson, (Audrey) and Mrs. P. S. Zavitsky, (Madeline).

Saw Service In Four Countries

Home on rotation leave after spending the past four years and seven months overseas is Gnr. James Prescott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Prescott, 97 King Street West, who returned to Oshawa on Saturday. Gnr. Prescott has seen active service in France, Belgium, Holland, and Germany and is now spending thirty days leave with his wife, the former Phyllis Mary Seton, 4 Maple Street.

He was born on December 1, 1906, north of Oshawa and has lived in the district all his life. He received his education at South Simcoe Public School and was employed at General Motors at the time of his enlistment.

Following his enlistment on September 21, 1939, at Cobourg, he received his training there and at Petawawa before being posted overseas. He received further training in England after his arrival in September, 1940.

He has one brother, Harold, who is with the Canadian Army, "Somewhere in Europe."

UNCONSCIOUS BY EXPLODING MINE

Pte. Samuel J. Cuthbert Arrived Home On Leave Sunday

Knocked unconscious by an exploding land mine on D-Day and wounded in France two months later, Pte. Samuel J. Cuthbert arrived in Oshawa on Sunday for 30 days leave with his wife, the former Beatrice Murdock, at their home, 105 William Street East. Attached to the R.C.A.S.C., Pte. Cuthbert was driving front line ammunition supplies transports in Germany when he was posted back to Canada.

Taking part in the D-Day invasion which he described as "a marvelous sight to see," Pte. Cuthbert landed without mishap apart from the fact that the craft he was on ran onto a sandbar and it was necessary to take the men and vehicles ashore on barges. They had just proceeded about three-quarters of a mile from the beaches, however, and were crossing a field when the lorry next to him ran onto a land mine and he saw three of his chums thrown over his vehicle. Although knocked unconscious for about 10 minutes himself, he escaped without injury.

On August 23 he was wounded in the shoulder by shrapnel and was in Hospital in England for nine weeks. He was able to return to action in January, landing in Belgium, and took part in the fighting in Holland and in the invasion of Germany.

While admitting that there were some hard-fought battles in Holland and elsewhere, Pte. Cuthbert was of the opinion that most of the boys would agree that the toughest fighting was in Normandy. "There was tough going there week after week," he said, adding that in other areas the intense fighting was not as prolonged.

While he pointed out that he had not had an opportunity of conversing with the German population he said that on the surface some did appear to have a more or less friendly attitude toward the Allied troops. With regard to others, however, he added, "If looks would kill you, we'd be dead."

SAYS NEW GUINEA A CRINKLED HELL

Osmar White Tells of Fighting Under Terrible Conditions

By DOUG HOW
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

These are days in which Allied armies strike hard, often, confidently because they know how to fight and they have the stuff with which to fight.

Long past is the stage of cruel experiment, of frugal desperation when the lives of the few were sacrifice to learn the lessons for the many who now are inexorable in in their might and their knowledge. Dieppe was experiment. The Battle of Britain was desperation. New Guinea was a bit of both, but mostly it was a slimy, unbelievable desperation "where white men slipped and slithered, panted, sweated, bled, sickened, dropped and died in a sodden an crinkled hell of mountain and forest and swamp."

It is of New Guinea that Osmar White writes in "Green Armor" (George J. McLeod Limited, Toronto). Upon a background of prewar jungle exploration and tropical mountaineering, the New Zealand-born, Australian-educated war correspondent has imposed first-hand experience in the war itself.

It was among the green armor—the tangled, knitted jungle and the razored slopes—of New Guinea that the Japanese march to Pacific domination came to a halt. But Osmar White is annoyed at suggestions the Japanese were stopped 30 miles from Port Moresby by any feat of defence. It was, he says, "a law of nature."

He is authoritative in his military analyses but it is in his descriptions of men and terrain that he achieves success. These, a few of his sentences, may best serve to telescope and give the feel of his story:

Incredible Privations

He leads 90 native bearers of supplies 120 savage miles over the high trail to Wau.

"Without exceptions our carriers have diseased skins. Nearly everyone has an enlarged spleen . . . Their labor is incredible . . . If there is a war in New Guinea—and there are times when I believe any war to be negligible against the face of this land—these are the people who are fighting it now. The people of the rivers and swamps and hills who come and hire their bodies for tobacco and die of pneumonia, exposure, exhaustion in the evil mountains . . . they have never known liberty to want to save it . . . I am obeyed like a God."

Of New Guinea scouts:

"Men on patrol existed like amphibious wild animals. They spent their days and nights in clinging mud, yellow water and drenched undergrowth. There was a dreadful, nervous tension in their every movement. Their voices were hushed . . . They slept with hand grenades in their pockets, lightly and still as cats."

Back from the Middle East, unused to jungle warfare, Australian veterans were practically annihilated trying to defend passes in the Owen-Stanley mountains but their sacrifice finally launched the Allies on proper, realistic training. Of their retreat:

"All night I kept passing lines of wounded men. They shuffled at a snail's pace, holding each other in long pitiful strings. Men would drop off and lie face down in the mud. The next string would help them into the bushes by the side of the trail. Some died there. Some recovered and moved on . . .

"I was convinced for all time of the dignity and nobility of common men . . . that they have a pure and shining courage when they fight for what they believe to be a just cause."

FAMILY ALLOWANCES
AND INCOME TAX

THE following announcement will help to clarify the relationship between Family Allowances and Income Tax credits for dependent children. Family Allowances are payable from July 1st, 1945, and the registration of children is now taking place.

The Family Allowances Act was designed to help equalize opportunities for all children, and when the Act was passed, Parliament approved the principle that there should be no duplication of benefits by way of Family Allowances and Income Tax credits for the same child. An amendment to the Income War Tax Act will be made to deal with this duplication. In the meantime, however, the Government proposes, for the last six months of 1945 during which Family Allowances are payable, to remove duplication by adjusting the income tax credits received for children.

It is natural that parents in the low income groups will be expected to receive maximum benefits from Family Allowances. Partial benefits will be received, however, by parents with incomes up to $3,000.

The table below shows the effect of the adjustments which the Government has decided to make. For convenience and simplicity the benefits received by each income group are shown as a per cent of the Family Allowances received. The table shows:

(a) Heads of families receiving incomes in 1945 of $1200 or less will benefit to the extent of the full amount of the Family Allowances received. As they are not required to pay income tax, there is no duplication to remove.

(b) Heads of families receiving incomes in 1945 in excess of $1200, but not in excess of $3,000, will in effect retain the full value of their present income tax credits and in addition a percentage of the actual Family Allowances received.

(c) Heads of families with incomes in excess of $3,000 will retain their full income tax credits for children if they do not receive Family Allowances. These taxpayers may, however, apply for Family Allowances to protect themselves against a possible decrease in income at a later date which might bring them into a lower income range where they would benefit from Family Allowances. In such cases if the income remains in excess of $3,000, the income tax credits for children would be reduced by the full amount of Family Allowances received.

TABLE SHOWING EFFECT OF ADJUSTMENT FOR 1945

AMOUNT OF TAXABLE INCOME	Percent by which taxpayers will benefit from Family Allowances in addition to present income tax credits, for 1945.
Not over $1200	100%
Over $1200 but not over 1400	90%
" 1400 " " " 1600	80%
" 1600 " " " 1800	70%
" 1800 " " " 2000	60%
" 2000 " " " 2200	50%
" 2200 " " " 2400	40%
" 2400 " " " 2600	30%
" 2600 " " " 2800	20%
" 2800 " " " 3000	10%

of the actual Family Allowances received in the year 1945.

NOTE—This table applies to married persons and others having the status of married persons for income tax purposes. For the relatively small number of single persons supporting children and not having married status for income tax purposes, and for members of the Armed Forces paying income tax, special tables can be obtained from the Regional Director of Family Allowances in each provincial capital.

Family Allowances will be paid in full

In all cases, those who apply for and are eligible to receive Family Allowances will receive them in full, month by month. See scale below:

SCALE OF MONTHLY ALLOWANCES FOR THE FIRST FOUR CHILDREN

For each child
Under 6	$5.00
From 6 to 9 . (inclusive) .	6.00
From 10 to 12 (inclusive) .	7.00
From 13 to 15 (inclusive) .	8.00

Where there are more than four children under 16 in the family, the monthly allowance for each child after the fourth will be reduced in accordance with the provisions of the Family Allowances Act.

As far as is possible, to take care of the adjustments necessary to avoid duplication of benefits, current income tax deductions at the source will be adjusted to take into account the new situation when Family Allowance payments commence. This will avoid placing an awkward burden on the taxpayers at the end of the year.

FAMILY ALLOWANCES ARE NOT TAXABLE

Special attention is drawn to the fact that the income ranges used in the table above refer to taxable income, and any amounts received as Family Allowances should not therefore be included in calculating income for this purpose because Family Allowances are not taxable.

Family Allowances are also additional to dependents' allowances for servicemen's families and military pensions.

For children registered after July 1st, 1945, Family Allowances will be paid as from the month following the month when registration is made. Family Allowances are not paid retroactively.

Coleman's Cartage Celebrates 25 Years

CAME TO OSHAWA IN 1920...DEVELOPED SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS ...SERVED AS MAYOR

Jack Coleman started business in Oshawa with one truck and became mayor of the city . . . He has enjoyed splendid success which he attributes to hard work . . . Tells of life in Oshawa in early '20's . . . Operates large storage business.

By EVERETT H. MARSHALL

TIME MARCHES ON . . . . 1920 — 1945

J. A. Coleman, known to his hundreds of friends as Jack, who built his way from a one truck business to the highest position in the city of Oshawa, this week he celebrates 25 years of business here.

Above is shown the Coleman moving van which is familiar on the highways of this province, from Windsor to Montreal, and beyond. Truly a remarkable advance from the early truck shown below.

On the right is shown Coleman Cartage truck back in the early '20's. Hundreds and hundreds of tons of equipment and home furnishings were moved on this vehicle.

STARTING with a single truck, 25 years ago, Ex-Ald. John A. Coleman has since built up a large and flourishing motor transport business, comprising a fleet of trucks that haul furniture and freight throughout the Province of Ontario, and beyond. During the past quarter-century, "Jack" Coleman has not only literally "moved a city," but he also has become one of its civic leaders, having served eight terms in the Oshawa City Council, one as Mayor in 1939.

Always active in welfare and civic enterprises he owes much of his popularity and success to his genial personality and to his ability to make and hold friends. He smilingly asserts that he made many of his friends when he was moving their belongings to Oshawa in the middle twenties, the period in which so many persons came here to seek work and swell the city's population. A large proportion of present-day residents had their home furnishing moved from all parts of the province to Oshawa by Jack Coleman's trucks, and by so doing became acquainted with the man whom they were later pleased to honour as their community leader.

Small Beginnings

How Jack Coleman came to Oshawa as a young man without influential friends or capital and started a business in a small way, and how he developed and directed this business until it required the services of ten men and eight large transport trucks, together with vast storehouse facilities, is a success story that strikingly illustrates the boundless opportunities offered to the youth of this and other communities in a free land, who are willing to work hard.

It was not any easier when Jack Coleman was a young man to start a new enterprise than it is today; actually, it was much more difficult, especially in the motor transport field, where difficulties had to be faced that now are but memories. But these were successfully overcome by the initiative, integrity and, above all, by the hard work of man destined to succeed in his chosen calling of transportation, just as the relatively small present-day difficulties are no bar to ambitious youth possessing the same qualities.

BORN in Woodstock, Ont., Jack Coleman, as a young man, moved to Toronto, and after living there for eight years, came to make his home in Oshawa. He couldn't buy a house for a year, but then bought the comfortable home in which he has lived ever since.

"I suppose when you came to Oshawa you were quite an expert with cars and trucks"? I asked Mr. Coleman.

"Well," he replied smilingly, "as a matter of fact I had never driven either until I came here. I took driving lessons for just three days with the man I bought out, and then carried on in the motor transport business."

"Whom did you buy out?" I asked.

"I bought a cartage business from William Bassett in 1920 and the stock-in-trade consisted of one F.B. Chevrolet, O.M.C. truck."

"It doesn't sound like a very big business," I commented. "Did you start out alone?"

"Yes, I started out alone, and it was about a year before I had an assistant. Later, my brother Fred, who is still associated with me, joined the business; now we have a staff of 10 men.

"As business mounted, year by year, we added new Chevrolet trucks to our rolling stock, until, in 1928, we had eight of them in service."

"What kind of hauling were you engaged in at first?"

"Our early business was made up of a few furniture movings, together with moving travellers' trunks to the various hotels.

Moving a City

"As time went on our principal business became that of furniture moving. In the early twenties, General Motors was constructing new buildings to house the expanding industry, and people from all over were attracted to this city. Most of the present-day residents came here in the early 1920's, and this influx of population put us into the business of moving hosts of families from all parts of Ontario to Oshawa.

"Then, with the city's population growing by leaps and bounds, a tremendous demand for houses naturally developed. This created Oshawa's great building boom, during which our trucks hauled lumber—for the Gale & Trick Co particularly— —to build the new houses erected under the Oshawa Housing Commission and by other contractors. The vast quantities of lumber came here in carloads to be used in the building of new houses that were being constructed all over the city."

C.P.R. Connection

"After the boom days of the twenties, how did you fare in the hungry 1930's?" I enquired.

"In the depression years of the thirties, conditions affected the transport business adversely, as they did most other lines," replied Mr. Coleman, "but we carried on." His countenance, usually seeming ready to break into smiles, sobered for a few moments, then brightened, as recollections of difficult times gave way to thoughts of some compensating factors that stimulated Coleman's Transport business most opportunely.

"On June 5, in 1935, we started hauling for the Canadian Pacific Railway," Mr. Coleman stated. "We began hauling for the C.P.R. between Oshawa and Trenton daily, thus speeding up freight deliveries to any part of Canada by over 24 hours. We are still doing this. Our trucks also do all pick-up delivery of freight for the C.P.R. in Oshawa and Whitby from each station in these two places."

"No doubt you felt gratified when your firm became an auxiliary to the world's largest transportation system—the Canadian Pacific Railway," I suggested, and Mr. Coleman nodded a smiling assent.

Long Hauls

"You have moved household furniture across the length and breadth of Ontario; where have you moved it outside the province?"

"I have moved furniture as far east as Saint John, N.B. and as far south of the border of Pittsburgh, Pa.; also our trucks have made numerous trips to Buffalo, Detroit and other border cities."

"How does transport of furniture by moving van compare with hauling by rail?"

"Modern moving vans—and we are very proud of ours—compared with railway shipments of freight have decided advantages up to 300 miles. The cost of moving such goods is so much less by motor transport, and the speed of their arrival from point to point is so much greater that no one will ship by train if he can avoid it. Actually, the cost of a move by truck is about the same as the crating charges for goods going by freight—and few persons care to be bothered by the necessity of having their furniture crated, and of course the convenience of having goods arrive at their destination on the day they are moved, which usually is the case when moves are made by truck, as against the delays of a week or more that are incurred when shipped by rail."

Big Storage Warehouse

"In your business of moving furniture you are sometimes called upon to store it, I suppose?"

"Yes, that is so. In 1929, we bought a big warehouse for furniture storage at 79 Richmond Street West. In 1941, because of the housing shortage here, we found it necessary to build an addition twice the size of the original building. The dimensions of our present warehouse, which is on two floors are 40 x 120 feet. The structure was specially built to hold furniture, and was built three feet above the ground to allow air space under ground floor. It is modern in every way and ideally adapted for storing furniture safely."

At this point, my interlocutor launched into some interesting and, to present day listeners, rather startling reminiscences of early days on the highways. He seemed more interested in appraising the incredibly difficult and costly motor transportation of the past with the amazingly efficient and cheap truck transportation of the present day, than in talking about himself. But I pointed out that, while some of these fascinating bits of motor history should be included in any story about the head of a transportation firm it was the man himself, rather than of his quarter-century business anniversary, who should occupy the centre of the stage.

Mr. Coleman seemed reluctant to allow his name to be placed in the limelight. But he did yield from him something of his career in civic and community activities.

Record Poll

WHEN he first offered himself as alderman, in 1935, he was elected to the Oshawa City Council. On this occasion he polled [illegible], and the following year, he headed the poll among aldermanic candidates, when 2,826 of his fellow-citizens cast their ballots in his favour.

In the years 1937 and 1938, he received 2,461 and 2,840 votes respectively; and the following year, 1939, he broke all records in being elected as Mayor of Oshawa. When 4,509 citizens voted to elect him to Chief Magistrate's chair, that year, they represented no less than 75 per cent of the total vote in the city, a gratifying figure that is unique in the history of Oshawa.

After having served the city well as chairman of many important civic committees and sponsor of many [illegible] Mr. Coleman, as he was then, in the 1939-1940 period, was instrumental in getting the city street cars removed from the streets and replacing them with the first buses. This gave Oshawa residents tremendously improved city-wide transportation, and laid the foundation for a service which following removal of wartime restrictions will unquestionable prove a veritable boon to all.

Six years for which eight in all, were placed in operation six years ago, the business has tripled. Mr. Coleman recalls that he bought the first dollar's worth of bus tickets, and still has the first bus transfer, signed by J. H. McDiarmid, manager of the city transportation system as a souvenir. He also recalls with a chuckle, that he was the driver of the first bus that made its way up Simcoe Street, before any vehicle had been placed in regular operation. On this trip Mr. Coleman was accompanied by a group of city officials, to the edification, presumably of contemporary [illegible].

Returned to Office

DESPITE pressure of business, and after his term as Mayor, Jack Coleman returned to City Council as an alderman, in 1940, deeming it his duty to place his experience as well as his wide knowledge of affairs gained in operating a successful business at the disposal of the city government. He was returned to office by 3,705 votes and the following year, 1941, [illegible] by 2,693, in an election [illegible] ratepayers to the polls. In 1944 he was returned again, polling 3,475 votes, but in 1945, owing to personal and business demands on his time, he did not again seek office. Few members of the Oshawa City Council have brought such shrewd business judgment, and such knowledge of what course to pursue on all occasions to serve the best interests of the city and every resident in the round table discussions. Thousands of his fellow citizens are hoping that he will return to civic office again, [illegible], so that the city will have the benefit of his wide experience, during the critical period of reconstruction period.

A charter member in 1928 of the Oshawa Rotary Club, Jack Coleman has been its highly efficient Chairman of Transportation ever since. He has been a member of the Board of Health and the Public Utilities Commission, to mention but two of the many community organizations in which he has taken an active interest. Although he is a boon companion at any [illegible], and enjoys curling, he states that work is his chief hobby. And obviously happy in his daily [illegible] duties and in directing his extensive business, Jack Coleman seems to find enjoyment in his work where so many others seem to find it only outside theirs. He is a splendid mixer, always happy in the society of others, and always keen to be of service to them in any way that lies within his power.

Only Two Trucks in Oshawa

WHEN Jack Coleman started his business in 1920, there was only one other G.M.C. truck besides his own being operated in Oshawa, the one owned by Fred Bailes' hardware store for delivery purposes. At this time, General Motors Corporation of Canada, Ltd., made a few Buicks and what was commonly known in those days, a 490 Chevrolet car. All trucks were imported from General Motors U.S.A. plant.

In Ontario and throughout most of Canada, 25 years ago, there were no paved highways between towns and cities. Although a few urban centres had started paving their streets, the governments had not progressed beyond the stage of thinking about such projects. Then, as time went on and the number of automotive vehicles increased rapidly, the governments started building paved roads that were the beginning of Canada's magnificent network of highways, now spanning the nation from coast to coast.

Commenting on this development, Mr. Coleman said, "Better roads speeded up transportation on short hauls for trucks and enabled multitudes of persons to enjoy pleasure driving in safety and comfort to beauty spots and points of interest hundreds, even thousands, of miles distant. Improved roads enabled farmers to motor into urban centres and facilitated the manufacturers' problems of transporting their products to railroad stations and to distant cities.

"But", recalls Mr. Coleman, "even in 1920 there were very few paved roads in Ontario. On the main highway between Windsor and Montreal the only bit of pavement I can remember was a couple of miles between West Hill and Scarborough.

"These main roads were almost impassable for trucks or cars in the muddy Spring season, so that many farmers and teamsters found profitable use for their teams of horses in hauling out cars that became mired in mud holes—a common occurrence in those days.

Motor traffic, either urban or suburban, was very slow in comparison with what we have today. Motor trucks that would carry a two-ton load at 25 miles per hour was the best equipment that could be bought at that time. Now we have truck trailer jobs that will carry 18 tons at 50 miles per hour, and other specially built motor trucks that carry 30 tons at 25 or 30 miles an hour.

In the last five years a great many new types of trucks of a different design and structure have been built for army purposes and shipped to Russia, China and Burma, as well as Great Britain, for our fighting men. In this war this new type of motorized equipment has saved thousands of soldiers' lives, so that its value cannot be estimated in dollars and cents. And following the war, new and improved automotive vehicles will play an increasingly spectacular role in extending the commercial and industrial life of our nation, and in adding immeasurably to the pleasure and welfare of our people.

LOCAL BOWLERS SHINE IN LADIES' SECTION C.B.A.

SPORT SNAPSHOTS

By Geo. H. Campbell

They have not finished off the CBA 5-pin tournament yet of course but they did conclude the Ladies Section of the monster Dominion-wide bowling event on Saturday and once again Oshawa was to the fore—very much so. The Mayfair Lanes team, comprised of Vic Elliott, Janet Peel, Dorothy Clements, Vera Sargeant and Kay Wells captain, rolled a brilliant 3,373 total to finish in 3rd place in the ladies' teams section and only a few tough-luck and high-tension breaks in the last game prevented the Oshawa girls from winning top honors. Lake Bros. Furniture of Toronto won the ladies' team event with a total of 3,439 less than 70 pins more than the Oshawa quintette. Rolling brilliantly all the way in all three events—teams, doubles and singles, even though she didn't finish 'in the money' in any of the other events, Kay Wells averaged a nifty 257 for her nine games for a total of 2,275. This was plenty good enough to win the "High Aggregate Trophy" in the ladies section of the CBA tourney, a handsome silver trophy which is accompanied by a substantial cash award. The Mayfair Lanes team besides finishing 3rd for the entire CBA tournes, ladies' section, also won the special prize for high total by an "out-of-town" team. A very creditable display.

✧ ✧ ✧ ✧

The CBA men's events and mixed competitions, too, have still got a few days to run but Effie Herzelwood and Frank Brady still stand in 3rd place in the "Mixed Doubles" event, with their 1,525 total, while the "mixed team' entry, skipped by Brady, stands high in the running in this event also. Alex Doubison trotted up his O.A.W.A. teams on Saturday and the No. 1 team, which last year brought the 'Industrial Team' event of the CBA tourney back to the local Union Hall, rolled a 3,309 total to finish in sixth place. A lot of other Oshawa trundlers have finished "in the money" in the CBA events but as yet a full and complete list is not available.

The Mayfair Lanes of this city is going to stage a monster 5-pin bowling tournament here in the last two weeks of May. Entry forms are now available at the Mayfair Lanes. You can phone 2166 for further information. The events to be included will be Men's, Ladies' and Mixed 5-man teams, men's and mixed doubles; men's and ladies singles and a special "Husband and Wife" doubles event. With all the bowling leagues there are in Oshawa, no doubt there will be a large entry list for every event of this proposed tournament. An advertisement giving full particulars, entry fees, handicap arrangements, etc., will appear in this paper shortly. We understand, however, that this tournament will not be a strictly "Oshawa" tourney as first planned but that bowlers from Peterborough, Toronto, Hamilton and St. Catharines will be welcomed as entries also.

Next event of the week at the G[illegible] is the boxing show which is carded for Thursday night. The Motor City A.C. is staging this card and it will feature a total of 10 [illegible] bouts at the 3-round basis and two feature events at 5-rounds each, plus a bang-up semi-final go and an equally ballyhooed 'main bout'. The feature attraction being presented by Murray Swartz, promoter, of the show will see Herb Beckett, 170-lb Sudbury battler hooking up with Tony Bocabello, a highly-touted Nova Scotia sailor boy. This main go should be a slam-bang thriller. In the semi-final affair, Davey Thompson of Motor City A.C. takes on Pete Kolaski, of Toronto. The Oshawa boxer, Thompson, has seen quite a few bouts this past three months and should be in shape to make his best showing against the Toronto battler, Kolaski. In the two other 5-rounders [illegible] Rollie Englehart of Toronto A.C. meets Bruce Lidster of the Oshawa A.C. and the popular Lidster will have his hands full to keep his many local rooters happy in this bout for Englehart is considered very good. In the other, Battling Branning formerly of Northern Ontario and now of Ajax, meets "K.O." Rolson of Toronto. We've seen Branning slugging it out with opponent, before and if this Rolson is really called "K.o.O." for a reason, then there should be some real action in this bout. The six 3-round affairs are all matched bouts and should round out a good show. This is the first venture into the boxing show realm by Swartz and the Motor City A.C. boys and they are hoping for a real success. Time will tell!

✧ ✧ ✧ ✧

SPORT SHORTS — ANYTHING'S LIABLE TO HAPPEN THIS WEEK but right now there's a couple of meetings "on tap". The Minor Baseball Association officials are reminding all boys, 16 to 18 inclusive, that if they wish to play organized baseball this summer in the local loop, they must be registered, and TONIGHT is the last time for them to register, 7.30 o'clock this evening at the old Town Hall, Simcoe St. North . . . On Friday night at 7.30 o'clock, the Oshawa City & District Softball Association is holding its first big meeting of the season. They will elect officers and discuss plans for the coming softball season. All teams wishing to play O.A.S.A. ball in this association and all other leagues who intend to compete in O.A.S.A. ranks under the Oshawa and District Association, are asked to have their team or league representatives on hand Friday night . . . Jim Ziggay is going to present another wrestling card at the Oshawa Arena, next Tuesday night and he has lined up some likely looking talent to entertain the local mat fans . . . There is considerable talk of "minor lacrosse" being revived in Oshawa this summer . . . As was expected in local static circles, Joe Perrier was given the decision over Artie King last night in their catchweights bout at Maple Leaf Gardens last night . . . The thing about these Toronto boxing and wrestling shows that amuses us most is that they get columns of publicity in the sport pages before the cards are presented but after the show is over, the "news" of the event is contained in three or four inches of type. . . . Al Hardsand of Oshawa lost a technical k.o.o. decision to Dave Mitchell of Toronto last night, fighting at 115 lbs. . . . There were no other Oshawa boys on the card but several boys fought who will be seen in action here on Thursday night.

ALGER PRESS CHAMPIONS OF LADIES 'B' LOOP

Going into the last night of the schedule one point behind the league-leading Mitchell's Drugs, Alger Press copped the 1945 championship of the 'B' Section, Ladies' Major 5-pin Bowling League, last night at the Motor City alleys by a margin of 51 to 50 for total points in the section.

Bert White's Insurance gals tangled with he Alger Press team in the final night and managed to take one point but Algers won the other game by sufficient margin to cop the extra point for pins. Those two points proved enough to give them the championship, due to the fact that the Oshawa Dairy team stepped into the current pace-setters in their last game of the schedule and upset the dope bucket by taking all three point from Mitchells. The first game was a nip-and-tuck affair and then the Dairymaids took the second game in easy fashion to sweep the three points. The shutout not only prevented Mitchell's from retaining top place and the championship laurels but Oshawa Dairy clinched third place with the three points collected pushing out Pelts by one point for the third slot.

Dixon's Coal took two points out of the three from Pelts to keep them in fourth place and the two points gave Dixon's undisputed possession of the 8th place in the final standing, after occupying the cellar for nearly four-fifths of the season.

Burns Shoe Co. ran into a determined Saywells team and the tail-enders made a clean sweep of three points over the Shoe team. In the other game of the night, Kinloch took two points from Henderson, but this result didn't change the standing of either team.

Marion Oldfield and Isobel Leckie, both of the Oshawa Dairy squad, paced the individual bowlers for the night with high double totals of 488 and 459 respectively. Molly Jenkins 458, Peggy Mitchell, 448 and Bernice Manning with 402 were the only others to break the 400 mark last night.

It was announced that the annual closing banquet and presentation of prizes for the Ladies' Major 5-pin League, "A" and "B" sections, will be held on Monday evening, May 7.

GOOD HUNTING FOR RETURNING HEROES

Winnipeg, Canada—25 April, 1945—A Canadian sailor writes us from a warship on the Atlantic:

"Your good work is directly responsible for a leave, enjoyed more by me than any other since joining the Navy.

"During this latest leave, spent in and around my home ground (Calgary) I received the most enjoyable shock of my 24 years. I was a wildfowler before the war—still am; and always will be, no doubt, with your outfit on the job. Last time home has been my first show 'up' spent ducking (through no fault of my own; the Navy just wouldn't let me home for a duck shoot).

"The vast increase of surface feeders and divers, was indeed a wonderful surprise. What a contrast to pre-war days! It is safe to say there were more ducks than I have ever seen in my life. I also saw many geese on their way north.

"I covered a good deal of territory, radiating out from Calgary ten to forty miles. I spoke to farmers around Carsland, Brooks and Strathmore and as close in as Sheppard (close to Inglewood sanctuary) and never heard a complaint of crop damage, when I asked if such was the case. I also did some pheasant shooting down Bassano way, and there were no complaints there of ducks damaging farm crops.

"One old friend of mine, out by Chestermere Lake, said, "What damage those friends of mine do, ain't hurting me none." There were more ducks, especially mallards and goldeneyes, on Chestermere than I have ever seen before around those parts.

"As you no doubt know we Navy men cannot do very much to help you financially; but we can certainly boost your good work wherever we go. My shooter friends and myself know Ducks Unlimited as the best yet. Our heritage is secure in your hands. Thank God the ducks have someone shooting for them; there are too many shooting at them."

What they achieved...we must hold

IN THE YEARS following the Napoleonic wars, high taxes, low wages and unemployment made life almost unbearable for thousands of people in the British Isles. Canada was their land of promise. So by hundreds they came to Quebec, took the river steamer to Montreal, walked nine miles to Lachine where they began the cruel journey up the St. Lawrence in bateaux or Durham boats, lugging their possessions along the shore past the rapids. Finally there was the long journey inland with their supplies on their backs or on ox carts. And in the middle of the forest they made homes for themselves.

Just one ideal they sought, and found, in this new land. It was a country where thrift and hard work brought their reward, where each man could profit according to the effort he put forth.

Victory Bonds are the means by which each and every one of us can protect this precious heritage handed down to us by those sturdy pioneers. Each bond helps to crush those nations who seek to restrict our freedom. Each bond will assist the men in our armed services to build a happy future in this Canada of ours.

PARIS IS CITY OF CONTRASTS

Fashion Houses Catering to Wealthy Women Survive Hard Times

Paris, April 30—(CP)—In Paris today some women demonstrate in the streets against the food shortage and others flock to fashion shows to place orders for expensive clothes.

There is considerable discontent among the people, but it doesn't take the form of opposition to the fashion industry. Even those in food lines appreciate the sight of a well-dressed woman, much as they may be against the existing economic system. Paris is like that.

Who are the women who attend fashion shows and pay $300 to $400 for tailored suits in these times of great distress?

They number about 15,000 and they are women of 'Tout Paris', the fashionable set of the capital. Some are of the old aristocracy, some are wives of wealthy industrialists and business men. Some are spending money made during the German occupation.

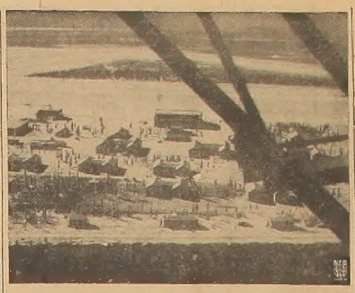
They are from the classes which once spent a great deal of money on automobiles, travel and many other luxuries which today are unobtainable, even for millionaires. But one can still spend money on elaborate clothes.

The fashion houses which cater to these women are doing a good business, but have had a hard struggle during the last four years and still must fight for existence.

Despite wartime restrictions, shortages of suitable materials and other handicaps, the fashion industry kept going through the war. Strange things have happened. Some of the best pre-war customers, now penniless, are working as saleslades.

There is tremendous interest in fashion this year. The main reason is there are not so many other attractions. But the total production of the fashion houses is only about 60 percent of the pre-war level, due to their inability to obtain enough fabrics. About 65 fashion houses are in existence—here, some having started during the war.

The average Parisian is proud that Paris has been the fashion centre of the world and wants it to hold that position. To him it is more than just fancy clothes for rich women—it represents creative art and employment for thousands.



"ATLANTIC CROSSROADS", OF THE CANADA CARRIES ON SERIES, AT THE MARKS TODAY AND WEDNESDAY

"Atlantic Crossroads" relates the dramatic story of Newfoundland, past and present, and is a tribute to the island's gallant people. The film shows how Newfoundland preserved Canada's wartime safety and, in a survey of the country's postwar industry, reveals how Canada, as Newfoundland's closest neighbour, can cooperate with her in times of peace.

Newfoundland will remain in the world-spotlight for some time to come. Until Japan is conquered, Fortresses and Liberators will soar from the runways of her strategic airfield at Goose Bay, in Newfoundland's Labrador territory, and Gander, on the island itself, to the Pacific. With talk of reconversion in the air, the post-war commercial use of Newfoundland bases is the subject of considerable speculation. Finally, the future of Newfoundland itself—a small country facing a big economic problem—may prove a test case for international planners.

The Canada Carries On producers of the National Film Board saw headline screen news for Canadians in Newfoundland. They sent cameramen, by plane over the country to shoot 'Atlantic Crossroads', a film story of Newfoundland which describes her achievement in policing the Atlantic and ferrying bombers to Europe, and gives a photographic summary of the country's industry, revealing what it has to offer commercially to Canada and the United Nations.

The war news in "Atlantic Crossroads" appears in scenes of the rarely photographed Goose and Gander airbases and action pictures of submarine warfare of which much was heard but little seen by humdrum Canadians in the early, dark days of the "Battle of the Atlantic". Special war interest attaches to sequences showing the naval importance of St. John's. Newfoundland's capital city has become a naval base of equal significance to Great Britain as Gibraltar and of as much strategic value to the United States as Hawaii.

"Atlantic Crossroads" contains postwar news in its screen survey of the unsuitable Newfoundland combining industry. Canadians, who eat comparatively little fish and may eat more it meat shortages are prolonged after the war, will be interested to see weather-bitten "Newfie" cod fishermen in their fishing schooners. They will learn that plans are afoot to build numerous quick-freeze plants to speed the shipment of fish to foreign markets.

Scenes of the Bell Island iron mines, financed by Canadian capital, of the Buchan copper mine, and of flourishing pulpmills, one of which supplies newsprint for the famous 'London Times' complete the review of Newfoundland's industry.

Newfoundland's gallant part in the war, her sturdy people planning for tomorrow, shown on the screen in close-up and panorama, make 'Atlantic Crossroads' a challenging and informative film for Canadians.

INDIAN PAIR END ODYSSEY SOUTH

Aged Medicine Man and Princess Back in Ontario

BY ADELAIDE M. LEITCH
(Canadian Press Correspondent)

MIDLAND, Ont., April 30—(CP)—Jack Sharrow, 95-year-old Indian medicine man formerly of this district, and Princess Prairie Flower Kewaquadoe, his Indian consort, have returned here after 16 years spent among Indian tribes in the southern United States.

Sharrow and the Princess, daughter of an Ojibway chief, started their travels when doctors said the Indian woman had to go south for her health.

"He's too old to be travelling now," the Princess said, explaining their return to this district where Sharrow will carry on the trade of gathering and mixing mericinal herbs which he learned as a youth in his tribe.

The couple have brought back with them a pet monkey which accompanied them on their travels through Florida, Arizona and California. With their long braided hair, high-heeled riding boots and the little blond monkey, the Indians have attracted considerable attention on the streets here.

Sharrow wears a 10-gallon combrero, souvenir of Arizona, and the Princess wears an unusual hat decorated with long trailing plumes. The Princess has picked up a southern drawl in her travels which adds a bizarre note to her accounts of their adventures touring the continent.

They made many friends among the tribes they stayed with in the south.

That is how it should be," said Princess Prairie Flower wistfully. "Here there are tribal rifts, and if you leave the tribe you cannot come back in."

In many ways their homecoming was a sad one. Many of their old friends had died during their absence and they are no longer known. The Princess' first job on reaching Midland was to see Jack comfortably settled. She plans to go to the Indian reserve at Rama, then to nearby Orillia, where she has friends. After that she will return for him.

SEEK TO EXPAND BRITISH TRADE

Better Merchandising Methods and New Lines Are Needed

London, April 30—(REUTERS)—New export lines and better selling organizations are needed if Britain is to achieve her target of a 50-per-cent increase in exports to the United States after the war, the department of overseas trade says in a survey of trade prospects.

The United States will end the war more nearly self-sufficient industrially and more expert-minded, it reports. The total value of goods and services produced in 1946 will be 70 per cent more than in 1940 and by 1948 American export trade will be one-third more than in 1937.

Imports, on the other hand, will have been cut from $7,000,000,000 to $4,500,000,000.

British exporters must continue to seek their major opportunity with manufactured and semi-manufactured goods which before the war represented three-quarters of their shipments to the United States, the survey says, adding—

"It is reasonable to think there will be an increase in the value of United Kingdom exports to the U.S.A. roughly proportionate to the expected rise in the levels of consumption in the U.S.A. But by relying solely on that it is doubtful if the accepted target of a 50-per-cent increase could be achieved.

"The importance of more intensive industrial research in the United Kingdom cannot be sufficiently emphasized . . . Because of the United Kingdom's traditional exports are limited, even if such possibilities be fully exploited, it therefore seems essential to develop a new range of exports, based probably upon recent inventions, in order to tap new areas of potential sales."

Another "most important factor," it says, will be the revision and improvement of merchandising methods.

"To some the method in use in the U.S.A. may seem over-aggressive and persistent in comparison with those met with elsewhere, but is is essential that United Kingdom exporters ensure that their goods shall be presented by methods similar to, as equally as efficient as, those used by U.S.A. distributors operating in the U.S.A.

"The U.S.A. offers a rich, but not an easy, market. . . 'Made in Britain' is a useful starting point in favor of the sale of United Kingdom goods, but increased volume can be attained only by a consideration of this initial advantage with what is most modern and effective in sales technique."

This Year's Crop Maple Products Low

Canada's 1945 crop of maple products is only 20 to 25 per cent of normal. This is the initial estimate of the crop by the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Less sap was gathered this year than at any time in the past 15 years. The poor sap run was attributed to the lack of frost in the ground and to the record spell of warm weather striking Central Canada late in March.

As evidence of the reduced 1945 output, one maple syrup packer who last year put up 44,000 gallons, 4,000 from Ontario and 40,000 from Quebec, obtained this year only 5,000 gallons—1,000 from Ontario and 4,000 from Quebec.

Naturally there are no marketing difficulties in dispoaing of this year's notably small crop. It is practically all sold now, most of it direct from producer to consumer.

SHELLS FOR EUROPE

Cape Town, Australia — (CP) — Australia supplied more than half of a certain type of gun ammunition used by the Allies of the Western Front for many months after D-Day and in February the demand was still heavy. This was one factor which induced Cabinet to defer an extensive re-allocation of manpower.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Jury & Lovell, I.D.A. or any drug store and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost. If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results your druggist will gladly return your money.

U.S. LEGION MAKES NATIONAL SURVEY POST-WAR JOBS

Forty Per Cent. Must Find Work in Sales, Service, Distribution

Canadians who are deeply concerned about post-war jobs for our ex-servicemen and others who are displaced by the closing of war plants will profit by reading the following report of a survey made recently by the American Legion.

Washington, April 28—Sales, service and distribution fields, rather than industry, will have to provide the bulk of the new postwar jobs that are needed to maintain a sound economy, The American Legion finds, on the basis of a nation-wide survey just completed.

Forty per cent of the postwar goal, or 23,000,000 jobs, must be found in fields outside of manufacturing, according to the Legion, which is prepared to throw the full weight of its 20,000 posts and auxiliary units behind a national program to stimulate community action for maximum employment.

Too much emphasis has been placed upon industrial employment, which will account for only about twenty-five per cent of postwar jobs, declared Edward N. Scheiberling, National Commander of the Legion, in announcing the organization's project. The Legion program, he said, is a "constructive plan of action, soundly built on facts, and with full regard for all forces in our economic life."

100 Major Industries

The Legion program embodies the results of a survey of policies to be followed in more than 100 major industries after the war and calls for full co-operation with the Committee for Economic Development and all other groups concerned with providing jobs, the National Commander states. It was drafted by the Legion's National Employment Committee, of which Lawrence J. Fenlon, Chicago, Ill., is chairman. Jay C. Hormel, Austin, Minn., is vice-chairman of the committee and Ralph Lavers, of Washington, D.C., is national employment director, and will actively direct the mobilization of Legion posts in support of the program.

"Considering all factors," said Mr. Fenlon, "it seems evident that we must have a goal of 55,000,000 jobs and opportunities after Victory. That is 9,000,000 more than we were able to scrape together in 1929; 18,000,000 more than we could provide in 1932, and nearly 3,000,000 more than we have today.

"Even our leading economists will confess that no one can accurately predict how many jobs will be needed. Yet, in preparing an effective program of action, it is necessary to set a goal. We believe that the Legion's figure is a realistic one—that it is a reasonable goal. It is intended to represent the necessary number of job opportunities, so that the returned fighting men, and all others, can have a choice—and not merely be regimented. Freedom of choice, freedom of opportunity, is the heart of the American way of life.

Returned Men First

"We of the American Legion insist that in all discussion of postwar employment, the first accent must be placed on jobs for returning fighting men. But the Legion recognizes that we do our fighting forces an ill favor if in finding jobs for them we leave other millions out of work. Mass unemployment in the postwar era might well mean the end of our social and economic patterns. There can be no security and happiness in a collapsing economy. We must strive to find jobs for all willing to work."

Mr. Fenton said: "Manufacturing employment today is out of proportion because of the war. It is probable that in the postwar period we shall have:

3,500,000 fewer jobs in manufacturing.

2,000,000 fewer jobs in government.

1,000,000 more jobs in agriculture.

"Thus, to have maximum employment, the Legion believes we must have:

1,000,000 more self-employed, and

7,000,000 more employed in service and distribution.

"That means that roughly forty-two per cent of all our working men and women must be in the service and distribution fields in postwar years. How will we find 7,000,000 new jobs in service and distribution and a million self-employment opportunities?

Develop Markets

"We will do it by selling—by developing a market for the goods we can produce. We are going to have to really sell for the first time in our national life, or we may become a socialist state, with government controlling all production and distribution.

"We in America have never fully developed our selling and distribution—our markets. We have never fully appreciated our strictly service fields as an economic factor. We have been bound to the illusion of the production of commodities. Too long have we believed that markets and purchasing power are synonymous. Purchasing power becomes a market only when it enters the market place to buy. Along with it must come an adequate expansion in distribution and greater emphasis on our strictly service fields, amusements, resorts, hotels, and others which, in turn, utilize materials and manpower.

"Selling, distribution and services are a grass-roots problems," the Legion employment report points out. "They must be carried on where the people live—and, more than any other group, the American Legion is a grass-roots organization, reaching deeply into the human level, finding its strength among and of the people in city, town and country cross-roads."

The fine showing of Zeller's Limited, a wholly Canadian enterprise, furnishes a splendid example of what can be done through energy, enterprise and fair dealing.

In the company's 27 retail stores, located in 26 Canadian cities, cash registers rang up a total of $10,800,000 during the past year. This is shown by the company's annual report, a digest of which appears in this issue. Disbursements to staff in salaries, profit-sharing and vacation money, totalled $1,845,285.

We suggest readers scan the whole statement and believe they will agree it is a fine report on a worthwhile Canadian concern, of which Oshawa has an important branch.

Bank Clerk Well Treated

Readers will recall that a short time ago an employee of a French-Canadian bank who protected the bank's property against hold-up men and suffered injury doing so appeared to be treated rather shabbily and considerable publicity was given the incident.

That such treatment is not characteristic of our Canadian banking institutions is evidenced by another case which has been placed on record by the employee concerned. In fairness to the banks we are glad to give prominence to the open letter which has been written by this employee to the Chief Constable, Toronto, and which speaks for itself:

Brigadier-General D. C. Draper,
Chief Constable,
Toronto, Ontario.
Dear Sir:

I am happy to have received a generous reward of $200 from the Toronto Police Commissioners in connection with the bank hold-up at Dundas Street and Ossington Avenue in March of last year. At the same time, I feel that The Canadian Bankers' Association has suffered unjustly in the resultant publicity. The implication has been conveyed, doubtless inadvertently, that the Association should have rewarded me.

The facts are that I have been excellently dealt with by my employers, The Bank of Toronto, in this very matter. After the hold-up in which I was injured my hospitalization was paid by the Bank, I was given an extended leave, and my expenses paid on a holiday trip covering some three months. On my return, the Bank compensated me to the extent of $2000 in cash. Following this I was promoted and my salary has been increased. My employers asked me not to give publicity to these rewards, but I feel it necessary in the present circumstances to mention them.

As I have previously stated, bank employees are not eligible for Association rewards, which are intended for the general public. Each individual bank is left to reward its own employees. This arrangement is no doubt based on consideration of public safety.

I am handing a copy of this letter to the press and respectfully ask you to bring it to the attention of the Police Commissioners.

Yours truly,
(sgd) DOUGLAS S. KING.

Two Jobs of Pocket-Cleaning

If Germany does not surrender unconditionally, there will be no V-Day proclaimed in Europe until all of Germany has been occupied. For this, we have the word of General Eisenhower. The Commander-in-Chief of the Allied Forces in Western Europe also declared that several weeks of hard fighting lie in store for his troops in cleaning out the several pockets of enemy resistance.

Our troops have already shown keen proficiency in the job of cleaning out such pockets. And with final victory all but achieved, they will be ready again to close in on the Germans, fully realizing that they may die just a few days before all will be preparing to come back to home and to all the precious associations of home.

Coincident with this situation on the European battle-front, citizens of Canada also face a pocket cleaning job. To pay the financial cost of the European victory which is now almost ours, to maintain Canada's armed forces until such time as they have been demobilized, to divert war materials to the Far East and to meet the financial bonuses which we have promised to our veterans of war, the Eighth Victory Loan objective of $1,350,000,000 must be reached. And to reach it, individual citizens will need to retain all the enthusiasm which they displayed in previous Victory Loans—just as we expect our boys in Germany to be as aggressive in the last battles as they were at Caen and on the Rhine.

Degradation In Death

After a feeling of relief and momentary exultation, we may steel ourselves to indifference, but it is difficult not to be shocked into sorrow as we read the cold, factual details of the end of Mussolini at Milan.

Facts of the account have a medieval sound with a touch of the dramatic, but as we read on we become appalled at the vengeance of a people betrayed and the sordidness of what was, after all, a just retribution.

The end came where it should—at the place of beginning—for years ago, Mussolini was a leader of Socialists and editor of a Socialist newspaper in Milan. Moreover, it was from this same city he started his march on Rome. With an utterly unscrupulous regard for established authority, he seized the means to power, flouting all opposition aside, until the present grievous condition of Italy and its people is the tragic result.

And now the deflated shell that once housed his bombastic but cowardly ego, dangles upside down from a rope in a public square of what was once his home city.

It is ghastly; it is cruel; it shocks our humane instincts; but long ago it was said in the ancient language that came from Italy, a fitting epitaph for all their type and kind . . . Sic semper Tyrannus.

Stay With Them to the Last Ditch

THE EXPLOITERS

By R. J. Deachman

A few days ago I wrote a story touching upon China and its development, in which I suggested that the crying need of that country was capital, for capital alone could increase the coolie's capacity to produce and this was the only means by which the standard of living could be raised.

Then one of these curious coincidences arose which are quite common among writers, we write upon some topic and, a few days later, stumble upon another article dealing with the same subject. So I picked up a copy of an address delivered by Dr. George S. Benson, President of Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas, on November 17, 1943. He had lived in China and had the light of practical experience to throw on this problem. He puts a slightly different emphasis upon it. His claim is that China needs peace so that private enterprise may be permitted to function—but here is Dr. Benson's Statement in his own words:

"China has been long under selfish grasping war lords, who provided no protection for private enterprise. This is the cause of China's poverty. Give China peace and protection for private enterprise and her resources will be rapidly developed and poverty dispelled.

"China's transportation system is exceedingly primitive. For instance, I buried kerosene which had been carried one hundred miles overland on the shoulders of coolies. Each coolie carried ten gallons of kerosene about ten miles a day and was paid about 10c a day. This made a cost of 10c for each hundred miles that a gallon of kerosene was carried, and accordingly increased the selling price by 100 per cent. of the original cost for each hundred miles the kerosene was moved. The poor coolie had only his investment and with much labor was able to earn a most meager existence.

Now there is a nice little problem we might mull over for a few moments in our leisure hours. If the coolie exploited by the rich in this particular case? If you were buying a gallon of kerosene would you want to pay 10c for each hundred miles it was moved? Doesn't it make clear the idea that without capital, or without limited use of capital, or with capital restricted by stupid laws or war-lords the cost of everything, in relation to capacity to pay, must be incredibly high. As a result progress in China is slow, very, very slow.

Now let us see what happens under capitalism. Our railways move wheat in Western Canada from Calgary to Fort William, a distance of 1,250 miles for 26c per 100 pounds. If it had to be moved by coolies that distance it would cost $12.50 per 100 pounds. From Morden, Man., to Fort William, the distance of 500 miles the railway rate is 15c per 100 pounds, the coolie rate would be $5.00. The railway men who move it are paid about fifty times as much as the coolie and work less than half the number of hours.

Yet there are people who sometimes refer to capitalistic exploitation. The most villainous exploitation which takes place in this world takes place where capital is scarce, or where it has been restricted by unfair legislation and is therefore unable to perform its proper function. Do not think for a moment that the achievement of these mighty deeds means the end of progress. Unleash capital comes to the aid of the coolie he will be doing things the same way in a thousand years. Not so with capital, it never rests, progress is continuous. Under freedom, the vision broadens—always there is the expanding outlook, the hope of better things to come.

• A Bible Thought

"THE LORD DIRECT YOUR hearts . . . into the patience of Christ." (2 Thess. 2:5). Christ is not only our pattern but also our power, since He enables us to endure with a like endurance to His own. To have a pattern without the power to realize it, to have our Lord's example without His efficacy and energy, would be of little practical use. But He Who sets the standard supplies the strength and our hearts are thus enabled to abide in the assurance of Christ.

ALD. TURNER BETTER AND STILL IN FEDERAL RACE

Editor Times-Gazette.

Dear Sir:—It is being variously rumoured that Jim Turner is now out of politics. It is being said that after an eight week bout with pleurisy his doctor has ordered him out of public life—out of the federal election finals.

This rumour is untrue. Thanks to a skilled physician and the wonder drug penicillin, Jim Turner is making a rapid recovery. He expects shortly to be back into city council helping to represent the workers point of view and on the hustings as the Labor-Progressive party's candidate—putting forward his party's Federal Election Platform for consideration of the electorate.

Yours truly,
A. J. TURNER

LIBERAL?

The Editor, Times-Gazette.

Dear Sir:

I wonder what the Liberals had in mind when they nominated Mayor Gifford as their provincial candidate last Wednesday.

Evidently they seemed to be determined to antagonize the workers of Oshawa, else why, pick on Gifford who did everything to over-ride the wishes of labor in the recent case of Mr. Slyfield being fired from the library board.

Mr. Slyfield was the man for that post and also the choice of labor of all shades, but the reactionary Board of Education threw him out and Mayor Gifford fell in line.

Mayor Gifford Liberal? I think not.

MOST IMPORTANT THING
(Vancouver Sun)

It is well on all counts that Mr. King calls the election at the earliest possible moment. Time is running short and many forces must be set in motion if the postwar transition is to be arranged with the least possible dislocation. Whatever happens June 11, whether it is Mr. King, Mr. Bracken or Mr. Coldwell who emerges as Prime Minister, it is safe to predict that the most important hurdle will be the Dominion-Provincial conference—which it is essential to call and which may hold the future of Canada in its hands.
